Roads and Bridges Planned As New Works In Manitoba

Agreement Between Federal and Manitoba Governments for Schemes To Be Carried Out to Relieve Unemployment Is Made Public; Survey for Railway Line Is To Be Made.

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Sept. 30.—An agreement has been reached between the federal government and representatives from Manitoba respecting public works and highways to be started in that province to provide work for the unemployed.

A maximum sum of $900,000 will be paid by the Dominion out of the $20,000,000 fund under the unemployment relief measure, toward the undertakings in Manitoba. A sum of $300,000 will be set aside as a maximum for direct relief. That will provide the Dominion's share of direct relief in that province.

Announcement that an agreement had been reached was made by Senator G. D. Robertson, Minister of Labor, at the conclusion of a conference to-day in which Premier John Bracken and other Manitoba representatives participated.

It is expected details will be ready for submission to the cabinet to-morrow, when the agreement will be ratified.

Proposals agreed to for public works as between the federal government and the province, it is understood, are as follows:

Construction of the Norwood bridge over the Red River and the Main Street bridge over the Assiniboine River at Winnipeg.

Hard surfacing of all trunk highways leading into Winnipeg, including: Through St. James from St. Norbert to Winnipeg; from Transcona into Winnipeg; from St. Vital to Winnipeg; the St. Ann's Road to St. Boniface; from Lockport to Winnipeg on the east side of the Red River; the Selkirk Highway from the Bergeon Cutoff into Winnipeg; from Brooklands into Winnipeg.

TRANSCANADA HIGHWAY
Completion of the Transcanada Highway from Whitecourt to the Manitoba-Ontario boundary, a distance of forty-five miles.

Construction of a road through Turtle Mountain to connect with United States roads, an approximate distance of ten or twelve miles.

Construction of a road from Pinet to Winnipeg and Pine Falls, approximate distance twenty miles.

Construction of a road from Pinet to Winnipeg, approximate distance forty miles.

Construction of a road from Dominion City to Pinet, approximate distance twenty-five miles.

HIGHER VALUATION LEVELS SET FOR IMPORT DUTIES

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Sept. 30.—An appraiser's bulletin went forward to-day from R. W. Bresnahan, commissioner of customs, to the customs collectors throughout Canada, fixing the value for duty under the intermediate and general tariffs of a number of varieties of fruits, vegetables, peas, livestock, meats, eggs, baby chicks and poultry. The effect of this bulletin will be that where goods are sent into Canada at prices below the fixed valuation, the anti-dumping clause will apply.

The values for duty fixed by to-day's bulletin per pound follow: Peaches 4½¢ (until October 31), pears 3½¢ (until October 31), apples 3¢, cabbage 1½¢, celery 2¢, onions 2¢, mushrooms 3½¢, tomatoes 3¢, peas (green) 4¢, peas (split) 4½¢; meats, fresh or frozen, N.O.P., beef and veal 12½¢, lamb and mutton 17½¢, pig, 15¢, not otherwise provided 18¢, meats prepared or preserved, bacon, hams, etc., 26½¢, N.O.P. 24¢.

INDIAN AGENT SENTENCED TO TERM IN JAIL

Fred Lomas, Duncan, Given Two Years and Six Months By Nanaimo Judge

Pleads Guilty to Charge of Misappropriating $12,000 in Funds

(Special to The Times)
Nanaimo, Sept. 30.—Fred Lomas, former Indian agent at Duncan, was sentenced to two years and six months in the penitentiary when he pleaded guilty before Judge Barker in the County Court here this morning to a charge of converting government funds amounting to over $12,000 to his own use.

The accused elected speedy trial through his counsel, C. F. Davis, W. C. Morsey, K.C., of Victoria, appeared for the Crown.

Mr. Morsey, in outlining the case, said Lomas had been misappropriating from funds of the Chemainus, Cowichan and Kuper Island reserves.

Mr. Davis, on behalf of the accused, made a plea for leniency, stating that Lomas had spent twenty-five years in the government service. He had been wounded overseas and had spent seven months in hospital. He suggested the government was to blame in the case because of a lack of systematic auditing.

DETERRENT TO OTHERS
In passing sentence, Judge Barker said government employees were trustees of the public. The accused had had an opportunity of seeing the results of his misdeeds before he committed them.

Although a prison sentence would not do him any good, it would act as a deterrent to others, the judge said. He had no alternative but to pass the sentence upon him, suggesting that representations might be made to the Minister of Justice in view of the accused's long record.

TARIFF PUTS RATES UP FOR MANY FIRMS

A. E. Munn, North Vancouver M.P., Analyzes Effects of Bennett's Policy

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Sept. 30.—"While Premier Bennett's tariff proposals have helped a number of special industries, including some that were in a very weak condition, the great basis payroll industries of the country, agriculture, lumber and paper-making, have received no help whatever," said A. E. Munn, M.P. for Vancouver, on his return to the city to-day after the special session of Parliament.

"On the contrary, those key industries will suffer, as their costs of production will be increased by the new high tariff rates on their implements of production," he said. "Some of the increases under this head are as much as 400 per cent."

Mr. Munn said Premier Bennett had taken the full responsibility for the whole programme on his own shoulders. The other Conservatives had kept quiet, he said, while Mr. Bennett ran the show.

"It is make or break with me," said Mr. Munn. "If his policy succeeds, he deserves all the credit. If it fails, it will be just too bad for him—and for the country."

BUILDING FOR SEPTEMBER IS ON UP-GRADE

Permits Taken Out Show Increase; Big Jump Over September Last Year

Indicating a general improvement in the building situation in the city, figures on building permits issued at the City Hall for the month of September show an increase over the value for the previous month and also for the month of September, 1929.

Fifty-eight permits for construction valued at $120,363 were issued by the building inspector during the month. This compares with sixty-two permits for $118,997 worth of work in August, and seventy-two permits for $84,874 worth of work in September last year.

Building for the first nine months is well past the $1,500,000 mark. Five hundred and fifty-three permits have been issued so far this year for work valued at $1,501,997, against 541 permits valued at $3,491,297 up to this time last year. The figure for last year included the $2,000,000 Empress Hotel contract.

FINLAND TO FLY AGAIN IN THE NORTH

Continues Work For Mining Company Following Rescue By Planes in Saskatchewan

Former Victorian and Indian Companion Were Missing Nearly Two Weeks in Wilds

Canadian Press
Lac la Ponge, Sask., Sept. 30.—Out from the northern Saskatchewan barren lands after nearly two weeks of near-starvation, and two days without food, Harold G. (Mike) Finland, formerly of Victoria, B.C., to-day planned to fly over the northern route from Lac la Ponge to Wollaston Lake.

September sixteen the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company pilot-geologist was blown from his aerial trail and forced to land thirty-five miles southeast of Reindeer Lake. There, with a lone Indian companion, Malcolm Roberts, Finland waited until last Sunday, when he was found. Yesterday he flew his stream-lined monoplane back to Lac la Ponge and a warm reception from friends who had hoped for days he was alive, but had become a little pessimistic.

NEEDED FOOD
Finland was hungry when Pilot J. J. Reade of the Royal Canadian Air Force discovered him about noon Sunday. He had decided his position offered him little chance to live and had set out for Reindeer Lake, where he hoped to catch fish. Two days before his food supply had run out.

Five pilots gathered around the lonely spot on the barren after Reade had made the find. For days eight planes had scoured the northland, taking in hundreds of square miles of territory. Eight planes had set out Sunday morning and when only three returned at dusk, Lac la Ponge police knew the search was at an end. But they did not know whether Finland had been found alive.

SIX PLANES RETURN
When six machines zoomed over this radio outpost yesterday and then alighted on a landing on Lac la Ponge, Pilot Finland was the first to make shore. His Indian guide was with him.

Finland planned to-day to make the flight to Wollaston Lake as soon as he had rested. With him will go Dick Hall, geologist-pro prospector, who originally was to have been his companion on the ill-fated journey that started September 16. Hall is here, in 1927 he was at an end. But they did not know whether Finland had been found alive.

On the contrary, those key industries will suffer, as their costs of production will be increased by the new high tariff rates on their implements of production," he said. "Some of the increases under this head are as much as 400 per cent."

Mr. Munn said Premier Bennett had taken the full responsibility for the whole programme on his own shoulders. The other Conservatives had kept quiet, he said, while Mr. Bennett ran the show.

"It is make or break with me," said Mr. Munn. "If his policy succeeds, he deserves all the credit. If it fails, it will be just too bad for him—and for the country."

WEEKLY WAGE STILL CLIMBS

Average in B.C. Has Advanced From $28.96 to $29.20

Figures just compiled at the Parliament Buildings show average industrial wage covering a full week's work for all adult male employees has advanced from $28.96 to $29.20, the highest since the peak year of 1926, when it stood at $31.31 a week.

The average is computed from the figures supplied by each firm for the week of employment of the greatest number. There has been a steady increase in the number earning $25 a week and upward since 1925. In that year the percentage of employees paid a weekly wage of $25 and more was 54.07. In 1926 it was 54.46. In 1927 it was 56.41. In 1928 it was 59.92. There has also been an increase in lower paid workers, those receiving less than $15 a week. This number has increased to 5,592. Sixteen industrial groups have shown wage increases. Nine have shown decreases.

The most common wage paid is $30 to $35 a week which is received by 15,211 workers in the province. The next is $25 to $30 a week which is paid to 11,549 workers. Ten thousand six hundred and eighty-eight workers receive $25 a week. There are 3,811 workers receiving $20 and over a week.

FIRST EARL OF BIRKENHEAD DIED TO-DAY

Succumbed at Fifty-eight After Courageous Fight Against Illness

Was For Terms Lord Chancellor of Britain and Secretary For India

London, Sept. 30.—The First Earl of Birkenhead (Frederick Edwin Smith), died just before noon to-day after an extended illness with a bronchial ailment. He was fifty-eight years old.

His crowded political life included a role as prosecutor of Sir Roger Casement, Irish leader, who was hanged for treason; Lord High Chancellor and Secretary of State for India.

He had been ill for several months of a lung congestion and several times recently had been near death. He suffered a serious relapse and recurrence of the lung trouble Sunday and after a troubled night his life ebbed quickly to-day.

A bulletin issued by his physicians to-day gave notice of the death. It said: "The Earl of Birkenhead passed peacefully away at a quarter past eleven this morning."

BECAME ILL IN AUGUST
Lord Birkenhead was taken ill last August when a chill developed into bronchial pneumonia. After a hard struggle with that malady, typical of his determined character, he seemed to have conquered and was pronounced on the road to recovery, although it was naturally expected he would take some time to regain his strength.

HINDENBURG'S SALARY IS TO BE REDUCED

Bruening Government Proposes Cuts For German Officials All Down Line

Intimates to Reichstag Dictatorship Probable If Plans For Economy Balked

Berlin, Sept. 30.—Drastic slashing of government expenditures, involving salary cuts for public officials and employees, beginning with President von Hindenburg, has been announced by Chancellor Bruening's new financial programme announced publicly to-day.

This was the awaited announcement of reforms Chancellor Bruening had indicated would be put through, even if a dictatorship should be required for its enactment.

The programme to be submitted to the Reichstag stresses the urgent necessity, in view of the existing economic depression and, steadily increasing unemployment, of putting the Reich's finances in order to reawaken confidence in economic enterprise.

NEW TAXATION BASIS
On the assumption relief for the unemployed is only a makeshift measure, the government proposes sweeping simplification of Germany's financial administration, especially in regard to taxation.

During the voyage there was much further studying of the Empire trade situation and exploration of the possibilities it offers. If Canada has wheat to sell it is felt by the delegates that the Dominion can also make increased purchases of Russian wheat without prejudice to her own industries. Anthrax coal is cited as a case in point.

This is a phase of a problem to which Dr. Charles Camell, Canadian Deputy Minister of Mines, has been giving special attention. "One of the complaints against the Welsh coal, it is stated, has been the failure at times to make deliveries as scheduled. Dr. Camell is giving the whole situation a thorough examination."

SOVIET COAL
Russian coal, it is pointed out, is already becoming a serious competitor of Welsh coal in the Canadian market. Tests have shown the percentage of loss in the Russian product is only about half that of the Welsh, with the result that the Russians can undercut the Welsh price. At the special emergency session of the Canadian Parliament the government secured authority to impose a duty on Russian anthracite if the situation should be declared to warrant it. Whether the duty will be imposed or not depends on events.

BERNARD SHAW SAYS HE WILL NOT ACCEPT TITLE

London, Sept. 30.—The London Daily Herald states King George recently wished to confer a title on George Bernard Shaw in recognition of his literary eminence, but that Shaw declined. It gave Mr. Shaw's secretary as the source of its news.

Shaw's secretary wrote to the paper, in reply to an article stating the country would welcome with enthusiasm royal recognition of the Shawian genius, that "Mr. Shaw has no reason to complain of lack of official recognition as he has been sounded on the subject and has definitely refused to bear any other title than the name with which his works are associated."

ISLAND COAL IS GOOD COAL

YOUR TON OF ISLAND COAL IS THE MINER'S BREAD & CHEESE

EVERY ton of Island Coal taken from the earth insures one day's maintenance for a miner and his family. To you it's probably just "coal" . . . an "unavoidable expense". What does it matter where it comes from, so long as it warms the house?

But wait a minute! There's more in this than meets the eye.

Don't let's forget that on Vancouver Island is one of British Columbia's major industries . . . coal mining. Every dollar we send out of the community for non-Island coals . . . or for fuels other than coal . . . is a dollar less in the pockets of our own people.

You can do your bit toward the relief of unemployment by buying Island Coal. Thus you will be making not only a practical investment in Home Industry, but you will be making a definite improvement in the economical operation of your own household.

Nanaimo-Wellington and Comox Coals show a better average of B.T.U.'s (heat units) than other coals sold locally. Island Coals are uniformly good coals. They burn freely, easily, have an exceptionally low moisture content and if governed by automatic control, yield more heat for every purpose.

Choose a reliable dealer from this list. He can show you how it is to your advantage to buy Island Coal. And remember, with your order on file, he is saving your money and making it possible for at least one miner's family to forget for a day the menace of unemployment.

These are common sense facts . . . of vital importance to all who live on Vancouver Island or in Greater Vancouver.

CANADIAN BANK MEN HOMESICK

With Depression in U.S., Many Clerks Who Went There Now Up Against It

During the past ten years hundreds—almost thousands—of Canadian bank clerks migrated to the United States, says a writer in The Financial Post, Toronto. What happened to them all?

Some have succeeded; more have failed. Still more have exchanged what they considered in Canada a stalemate job for a still more stationary position under the Stars and Stripes.

As a matter of fact the present time is a bad one for the staffs of American banks. Particularly, perhaps, for the Canadians among them. Not that the American bank executives have been anything less than fair to the immigrants from the North, but inevitably such are without influence and then also there is the fact that the notion—so popular among our bank men—that they are immensely superior to American bank clerks, is not subscribed to with such fervor south of the line. In the American banks there is a sharp distinction, entirely foreign to the Canadian bank clerk, between an officer and a clerk. The Financial Post writer points out. There is no gradual progression through the clerical ranks, with small but steady civil-service-like increases on a yearly basis, until in natural course "an appointment" arrives. A teller, you might say, is always a teller, or at least to the same extent as a shoe clerk is always a shoe clerk. The ranks of the officers are filled from "the family" or else from outsiders who will bring a business following with them. These officers are well paid—at least in the larger city banks. Anywhere from $6,000 a year up—although many of them are nothing in reality but departmental heads. But these jobs are quite beyond the reach of the visitors from the North unless they (1) become American citizens, (2) cultivate a large acquaintance for purely business reasons, (3) work twice as hard as they did in Canada, and (4) buy as much of the bank's stock as they can possibly get. If the president is childless, they may get an assistant cashiership.

MONTANA MAN KILLS CHILDREN AND HIMSELF

Butte, Mont., Sept. 30.—Explosion of dynamite under the bed in which they were sleeping brought death to a father and two of his children here yesterday evening.

The blast killed Luke Duffy, twenty-eight, and his son, Edmund, three, and inflicted fatal injuries on his daughter, Anita, five.

Duffy's mother, Mrs. Margaret Duffy, and his infant child, Lolita, who were sleeping in a room below the one in which the explosion occurred, escaped uninjured.

Neighbors told officers Duffy had threatened to kill himself and his children. His wife died last January.

Authorities said he had brooded over the care of his children.

The house, a five-room brick structure, was wrecked. Windows were shattered in nearby dwellings.

No Unemployment, No Tobacco Make Zion City Model

Vancouver, Sept. 30.—Wilbur Glenn Voliva, overseer of Zion City and the man who succeeded John Alexander Dowie, is an interested visitor in Vancouver and brings with him the statement that he is the head of a city in which there is absolutely no unemployment. "Everybody has something to do at home," he said on his arrival at the Canadian National depot here.

"We limit our population with that end in view, and I firmly believe every country should do the same, that is limit the immigration to its capacity for assimilation," Voliva says.

The death rate at Zion City is the lowest on the American continent and the birth rate is the highest. Strict quarantine is exercised against infectious diseases, and they do not allow the sale of tobacco. World conditions are beginning to stabilize themselves, Voliva believes. "The change will be very gradual, but I believe it has started. I do believe, however, that it will be two years before we return to our full normal conditions."

Voliva and two associates are in Vancouver on a world tour.

A GREAT BRITISH LAWYER

ALTHOUGH LORD BIRKENHEAD never achieved party leadership, his career, which came to an end today after a long illness, was noteworthy in some respects. Beyond question he was a very able lawyer and will be remembered longer for the eminence he won at his chosen profession than for his record as a politician.

After a brilliant scholastic career at Oxford, where he showed exceptional ability as a speaker, he was called to the bar at Gray's Inn and soon attracted attention as one of the rising barristers of the country. He became engaged in many cases of widespread public interest, notably the famous libel action of Lever Brothers against The London Daily Mail.

He entered Parliament in 1906 as Conservative member for the Walton division of Liverpool, and held the seat until he was raised to the Lord Chancellorship in 1919. It was he who moved the rejection of the Parliament Bill—the measure on which the Liberals fought and won an election, and which took away the Lords' veto of financial measures—on its third reading in the summer of 1911, after which he threw in his lot with the Tory die-hards.

When war broke out Mr. Smith was filling the role of Sir Edward Carson's first lieutenant in the organized hostility to Home Rule in Ulster; but the greater conflict put an end to the Irish controversy for the time being. He joined the coalition government as attorney-general, and was knighted in 1915. Under his direction came the prosecution of Sir Roger Casement and other important cases involving breaches of the Defence of the Realm Act.

In spite of his ultra-Conservatism and party bitterness, however, Sir Frederick Smith stoutly opposed the move of the members of his party who staged the famous Carlton Club meeting in 1922 to restore party lines. So bitter was his opposition to this, in fact, that he was not included in either the Bonar Law government or the Baldwin government which followed it. Subsequently, however, Mr. Baldwin healed the breach on assuming office after the election of 1924 and made Smith Secretary of State for India. He became a peer when he vacated the Lord Chancellorship.

Lord Birkenhead was a prolific writer, his work on international law having gone through several editions, while he turned out some notable essays which bore the unmistakable mark of high talent.

RACING IN THE OLD DAYS

NOW THAT SIR THOMAS LIPTON'S fifth effort to put the world's fastest yacht under his own flag has failed, it can hardly be heresy to remark that these sea-going contests would have seemed excessively tame to people of a former generation.

Consider this last yacht race, for instance: millions of dollars were spent, and hundreds of thousands of carefully chosen words were scattered over newspaper pages throughout the world—merely to discover that one delicate and costly contrivance of steel, wood and canvas could cover thirty miles in some nine minutes less than another similar contrivance.

This knowledge may be worth having; but an earlier day saw races under sail that were races, and knew how to glory in them. The deep sea skippers of the 'fifties, of the last century reached the all-time high water mark in nautical contests, and it is hardly the fault of Sir Thomas and Mr. Vanderbilt if one's mind automatically deserts their gay regatta for the titanic combats of the old days.

There were the tea clippers, for instance; slim, long-spurred cargo vessels built for speed, that raced all the way from China to Liverpool, and dared death to do it. Once six clippers set sail from a Chinese port for Liverpool, resolved to make a race of it. They slid down the China Sea, past Java Head and down into the Indian Ocean, sailed around the Cape of Good Hope and came cracking up the Atlantic—and, at the end, the winner had a margin of precisely twelve minutes over the ship that came in second!

Then there were the races in the California trade, with clippers striving to beat one another on the long run from San Francisco to New York and Liverpool. Their skippers had world-wide reputation for their daring; they cracked on sail in a gale of wind with the slogan, "what she can't carry she may drag"; they rounded Cape Horn in mid-winter, with the sail full of floating ice cakes and a sixty-mile gale blowing for weeks at a time; and now and then the victor, reaching New York, waited in vain for his opponent to come into port.

There were great speed records then, too; a ship like the Sovereign of the Seas, for example, could reel off twenty knots, hour after hour, and did it as part of the job and not just as a stunt. All of those races, in fact, were in the line of duty. Speed was essential, and the ship designers and ship masters provided it without counting the cost.

All that is over, now, and has been for decades. But the struggle between the Enterprise and the Shamrock recalls it, somehow—and makes one long for the old days.

THE APPEAL OF THE LIMELIGHT?

CERTAIN FRENCH NEWSPAPERS ARE criticizing Lord Rothermere for his championship of Adolf Hitler, the German Fascist leader, who said in the court at Leipzig the other day that he intended by means fair or foul to rid Germany of all her post-war obligations. In an interview with Hitler, the Rothermere press seeks to show that the newly-strengthened extremist party headed by Hitler is Germany's only bulwark against Bolshevism, while the other newspapers—British and foreign—ridicule the idea and point to Hitler's own declaration that when the Fascists got into power, "heads must fall."

The Frankfurter Zeitung, the leading organ of republican Germany, is very outspoken in giving its opinion of the British newspaper magnate. It admits he is one of the greatest newspaper owners of the present time; but it also regards him as "one of the pettiest journalists." The Frankfurter daily then proceeds to say that Rothermere "has now shifted the scene of his mischievous nuisances from Hungary to Germany. He is a hopeless reactionary, yet he will advocate a revision of peace treaties because it suits him."

It is rather difficult at this distance to understand the motive of Lord Rothermere in applauding an Austrian political upstart whose programme includes what amounts to a repudiation of the Versailles treaty, the Young reparations plan, and the Locarno pacts, as well as the establishment of a system of government which, as in Italy, would result in muzzling the very institutions upon which Lord Rothermere depends for the expression of his views and for a goodly portion of his annual income. But the proprietor of The Daily Mail, doubtless, does not represent the majority of public opinion in Great Britain.

ANNOYED WITH MR. BENNETT

THE BOOT AND SHOE MANUFACTURERS of Northampton, England, are greatly annoyed at Hon. R. B. Bennett because he said his tariff was intended, among other things, to prevent the dumping into Canada of boots and shoes from this well-known Old Country exporting centre. They want to know what he means by the word "dumping." One of them says "if he means that boots are sent to Canada for less than cost, I challenge him or anyone else to bring forward a scrap of evidence. He probably talks loosely, and means that wages here are less than they are in Canada. I doubt it very much."

While Mr. Bennett is in Britain it might be a good idea for the Northampton boot and shoe manufacturers to invite him to inspect their plants and see for himself the production of footwear that is in heavy demand in Canada—and which sells at a pretty stiff price, as the prices of boots and shoes go. If he were to accept the invitation, however, and were confronted with the statement complained of, he probably would say he had not been correctly reported. He has got himself in wrong with many of the newspapers in Canada by this airy way of trying to ignore some of the promises he made during the election campaign.

Before the Imperial Economic Conference is many days old Mr. Bennett no doubt will be asked just what contribution he expects to make towards the development of empire trade. All he will be able to say is that he has made it more difficult for British goods to enter this country.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

FORMIDABLE COMPETITOR

The Hamilton Spectator

The Canadian Wheat Pool is undoubtedly taking a wise course in sending a representative to Russia, to inquire into conditions at first hand, especially what is being done towards the modernization of the agricultural industry in the land of the Soviets. In the export markets of the world Russian wheat comes into keen competition with Canadian product, and it is predicted that it will become a greater factor still in years to come. Russian coal, pulpwood, lumber, oil, etc., are sent out in increasing quantities, and at attractive prices. By reason of economic conditions within the country, with cheap labor and state-owned materials, it is almost impossible for countries with high standards of living to overcome their handicaps. It is useless to ignore this competition; there is only one way to meet it and this is by taking it seriously. Russia is able to do what she is doing by reason of increasing efficiency in methods. The Soviets are, as a matter of fact, making over Russia, importing immense quantities of up-to-date machinery and adopting the latest scientific wrinkles.

PLUNDERING THE LANDLORD

The Edinburgh Weekly Scotsman

A tragic tale of legislative exaction lies behind the announcement that some of the most famous ground in Scotland, including Ben Lomond and the Trossachs, is in the market. The Duke of Montrose, unable to meet the heavy demands made by death duties, offered these lands to the Chancellor of the Exchequer as national possessions in lieu of payment, but evidently Mr. Snowden is more in need of cash, and nothing has come of the offer. All that is left to the Duke is to raise the money by the sale of lands which have been in his family for four hundred years, and it is difficult to imagine anyone purchasing these far-famed beauty spots to allow them to remain in their unremunerative wilderness and beauty. One trembles to think what might happen were they to be acquired by a commercial alien with a desire to turn them to financial account as show grounds.

A THOUGHT

And ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free.—St. John VIII 32.
—Pure truth is for God alone.—Lensing.

Twenty-five Years Ago To-day

The Victoria Daily Times, September 30, 1905

If Commissioner James Ashdown of the transportation commission, which has just completed its sittings here, has his way the government of Canada will inaugurate a system of free ports on both the Atlantic and Pacific seaboard.

Weather forecast—Victoria and vicinity: Moderate to fresh westerly winds, generally fair and cool.

Chief Justice Hunter and Mrs. Hunter, accompanied by Miss Hunter and Miss Nolan are visiting the Portland fair.

"Will basketball boom in Victoria this winter?" is a question which seems to be going the rounds in sporting circles at the present time. So far a satisfactory reply has not been forthcoming.

A party of some fifty California ladies and gentlemen, traveling under the auspices of the Sacramento Valley Development Association, arrived on the steamer Whistler yesterday and took in the sights of Victoria under the capable guidance of Alderman Oddy and Secretary Outburt of the Victoria Tourist Association.

Hon. R. McBride returned last night from the mainland where he has been attending the Dominion Fair at New Westminster.

A distinguished visitor registered at the Driad Hotel yesterday in the person of John T. Baker of Hilo, Hawaii, formerly governor of that island in the reign of Queen Liliuokalani.

Loose Ends

We take a boat—We suborn the owner—We return with a fish which we didn't catch—We go north and we collide with the law.

By H.B.W.

I REGRET IT, and I know you do, but there must be one more dismal chapter to the wretched record of our holidays. It is necessary to round out the deplorable business and to contain a serious confession which, if it goes to the Attorney-General (Pooley) or reaches the Spanish Police, who have me well catalogued in their rogues' gallery, why, this column will be undone.

WELL, TO GET IT over as rapidly as possible, when we reached a certain beach on the north side of the Comox Peninsula, we resolved to vindicate ourselves for our mighty failure as fishermen on the Cowichan. Now, I am the trout expert in our expedition—a reputation built up on performances long ago, but, combining rapidly under the events of recent years, and after what had happened at Cowichan my stock was pretty low with the rest of the party. At Comox, the stout journalist from Vancouver felt that he had come into his own. For he is a salmon fisherman. In salmon fishing he enjoys about the same reputation as I enjoy in trout fishing. That is to say, he cherishes a quaint idea that he knows something about it, and we are not cruel enough to disillusion him; but as we have traveled together for unnumbered years and never caught a salmon yet, we have no doubts on the subject ourselves. However, we like to humor him, for he certainly can cook chump chops. (Chump chops, I may say in answer to many queries from curious readers, are the largest, juiciest chops off a large sheep, and to secure four of them you must cut up two whole animals).

SO WHEN we arrived at the beach, where a friend was supposed to await us with a boat, our journalist was changed to a fisherman. He had hardly contained himself. The fact that the friend was not there with the boat did not deter him. He was prepared to commit a felony with sublime cheerfulness in order to show us how he used to catch salmon in the good old days. So we went to a boat which belonged to our friend (but which I secretly doubted), and we rowed out into the sea and we continued to row until the sun set in a blaze of crimson behind the Island mountains.

LONG INTO the golden twilight we continued to row upon a sea as smooth as glass and as blue as the sky. A great yellow moon was rising out of the water in the east and stars were twinkling behind the trees when we finally came ashore. Need I say that we came ashore without any fish, without even a bite; or that it was I who had rowed all those weary hours, and that the owner of the boat was found waiting for us on the beach, with a grim expression and two powerful fists clenched alarmingly, that I was I who had to explain everything? Need I say that he was not convinced and made many crude remarks and violent threats and that we won't go back to that bay again for a long time? But it was the stout journalist who finally soothed him with an army ration of good old rum, after he gave us a salmon which he had caught earlier in the day, and we returned to Comox in triumph, and with an appearance of sportsmanship which we did not deserve. But the chump chop cook looked very blue; he knew that his reputation as a fisherman could not withstand many more affairs of this sort.

BUT WE DID much worse than this, and I think it is rather fine of me to reveal it, even before the yawning gates of prison. The record of our trip was bad enough thus far, for by this time we had desecrated the Cowichan with worms; insulted the city of Courtenay by trying to buy cream without bringing a bottle; lost our way on the Comox Peninsula by night and roused several terrified farmers to find it again; pilfered a boat and suborned the owner. But the further we went the more disreputable did we become, until at Campbell River nothing was too low for us.

WE HAD OFTEN been to Campbell River before. In the old days we used to track through the deep, gloomy forests which lay all about the great falls of Campbell River. We used to clamber almost to the foot of the falls along the moss-covered canyon. There we could sit on a ledge of rock, where the maidenhair ferns and moss grew thick and wet, gaze down into the green waters below and see the trout down fifteen feet beneath the surface. But we had heard then that the forests of Campbell River would shortly fall before the logger's axe, and we agreed among ourselves that we would not come here again. We would remember Campbell River as it used to be in the days before civilization came this way. Like most of our resolutions, this was broken, and we found ourselves once more on the road into the falls.

I NEEDN'T TELL you what the road looked like after civilization had passed this way. In the old days it was a track through a forest so dense that you could only see little patches of the sky above. Now it ran through miles of desolation of that unique and hideous sort which only scientific logging can leave behind—a land wrecked and tortured, a brown and ghastly land with stumps marching endlessly out to the horizon miles away and not a green thing to be seen. Happily, however, a little stand of timber has been left about the falls, some fifty acres, I think, by an arrangement between the government and the timber owners. It is not much, it is pathetically little, but it is something.

I NDEED, WHEN you have entered this little patch where it is twilight at noon you can almost forget the desolation a few yards away. And the light that in some ways it is a finer sight, altogether a more pleasant sight than Niagara itself. Also you have secret doubts about a civilization which will shortly require this splendid, living thing, this superb expression of a power so much better than ours, in order to light its houses and to toast its bread in the morning. You are glad, too, that you have seen it before it is too late.

BUT THIS IS not what I had intended to write about. What I had intended to write about was our last fishing expedition and how we brought ourselves within the scope of the law, or at least less than a quarter of an inch from it. It is too late now. I must write another chapter to-morrow. I cannot help it. This grisly secret must be told.

RED OR BLUE?

To the Editor:—Will you allow me, of your courtesy, to intrude upon your valuable space for the purpose of commenting briefly upon the report of a recent meeting held at Colquhoun published in The Times of last week?

In this report we read that the doors of the meeting place were besieged by men who clamored to purchase a blue ticket in place of the famous red ticket of which we heard frequently during the past election. This state of affairs having been brought about by rumors circulated in the district concerning the awarding of work on road construction.

It is understood from rumors, which have been diligently circulated, that only holders of these blue mandates need apply for work. We have heard a great deal in recent political speeches about the Conservative element being out to "smash" the "Liberal machine," but I will leave your intelligent readers to figure the situation out for themselves.

A CORRECTION

To the Editor:—Permit me a space in your valuable paper to express myself, in respect to an article appearing in your issue of September 22, dealing with the happenings at luncheon on Monday September 22.

Allow me to correct your correspondent in the statement:—"That certain firms in apparent open contravention of the law, etc."—for as a matter of fact the law or its observance was never mentioned in my discourse, which in reality was an effort to bring to the notice of the business men of Port Alberni the necessity of going after the West Coast business.

This West Coast business is our natural heritage and as the days of Santa Claus are a thing of the past where business is concerned, we usually have to go after what we want. Such was the gist of my argument.

WEDNESDAY'S MEETING

To the Editor:—As a large percentage of the unemployed of Victoria and district are laboring under a misapprehension, as to the aims and objects of the meeting to be held on Wednesday next in the old school room, near the Christ Church Cathedral, I would like to make an explanation. The meeting is for ladies only. At it a committee of ladies will be struck to associate with the men's delegation, which will interview Premier Tolmie and his cabinet this week on the subject of unemployment. We are particularly anxious that the women's phase of this serious question should be laid before the government. The delegation will go to the government under the guidance of the Vancouver Island Unemployed Association.

It is not essential that those who constitute the personnel of the delegation going to the government should be unemployed. In fact we want every one interested in the problem, employed and unemployed, to help. We want help to do away with the hardships and suffering which men and their womenfolk are subject to through being out of work. The association I represent will welcome the counsel and help in short we want the citizenship as a whole to be with us in the representations we are making to the authorities.

VARIED PLAYS TO BE OFFERED

Mimes' and Masquers' Guild to Give First Performance on November 5

Every indication of a successful dramatic season was evidenced at a meeting of the Mimes and Masquers Guild held in the Victoria High School on Saturday evening last. Casting of players for the three one-act plays to be presented on November 5 was completed, and it was announced that work would be commenced immediately upon rehearsals and preparation of scenery.

The programme will include "The Birthday of the Infanta," by Oscar Wilde, in which the principal character is the dwarf "Pantastic," brought from the woods to dance for the entertainment of the Infanta on her birthday. Fraser Lister in this part will be supported by Ara Hayne as the Infanta. Dr. Percy Barr will be director.

Thelma Johns and Cleaver Wilson will be the heroine and hero in "The Romanians," a comedy, by Edmund Rostand, directed by Miss Ella Cameron. The cast will include Leslie Hardie and Edgar Kidd as Bergamini and Pasquino, the Infanta's valets, who plot to unite the young people in marriage. Bert Ballie, as the fencing master, who helps out the scheme, will have a most amusing character to portray.

The third play, "Op or Me Thumb," by Frederick Fenn and Richard Pryce, will be directed by Miss Rena Ogden. Kathryn Barr will interpret Amanda, the cockney laundress, with H. S. Burn in the other leading role. Others in the cast are Madam, Sam, George Mongin, Betty Hetherington, Mrs. D. J. McConnon and Helen Hurn.

A number of players who took part in the Guild's previous productions last spring will appear in forthcoming productions, in addition to new and promising talent which has been secured by the Guild during the summer.

Associate membership will entitle the holder to free admission to all public and private performances of the Guild, and may be obtained from any member of the Guild or from the secretary, A. Fraser Lister, 1114 Fairfield Road.

COURSES IN ART

DRAW INTEREST

AT NIGHT SCHOOL

Six Lines of Study Provided at Evening Technical Classes, Starting Thursday

Great interest has been shown in the evening school classes in art which commence at Victoria High School on Thursday under the direction of the School Board, according to W. T. Binn, supervisor of technical education.

The art classes are divided into six sections. Mr. Binn explained the scope of the instruction in all different phases of the subject. Following is a brief outline of the six courses:

1. Drawing—light and shade, color—Instructor, Miss Adeline Baxter, of the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston, and supervisor of drawing, Victoria Public Schools. All students intending to begin the study of art should attend this class, as the subjects mentioned above will be treated in an elementary way. The study of the general principles of art is very necessary before advancing to the higher classes.

2. Class in design—Instructor, Mrs. Unthoff, diploma Glasgow School of Art. The instruction comprises design of all kinds, stencilling, fabric and mental, embroidery design, work suitable for hand carving, pottery or interior decorating, dress design, etc.

3. Class in handicraft—Instructor, Mrs.

Lillian Sweeney, California School of Design, San Francisco. Students in this class will work out designs applied to leather, wood, fabrics, etc.

Figure drawing and commercial art—Instructor, Will Menzies, Royal Scottish Academy, Edinburgh. This course will consist of instruction in drawing from the figure in different mediums, namely, pen and ink, chalk, charcoal, wash and in color. Commercial art embraces the application of drawing for all commercial and business purposes.

Course in fine arts—instructor, Arthur Checkley of Birmingham and London. This is an advanced course consisting chiefly of landscape painting in oils and water colors. This class will be held in the School Board offices, City Hall, commencing on Thursday, October 2 at 7:30 p.m.

Pottery—instructor, Mrs. Grute, Goldsmith College, London. This course illustrates in a simple and inexpensive manner the application of design to the making and decorating of pottery. The practical work includes glazing and firing in the kiln.

COURT INQUIRY IN NEW YORK IS MADE WIDER

New York, Sept. 30.—A new phase in official efforts to clean up New York's judiciary scandals has been ushered in with the opening of a new and sweeping investigation by the appellate division into the magistrates' courts in Manhattan and the Bronx.

At the same time an extraordinary grand jury which is investigating the judiciary in Manhattan has requested that Governor Roosevelt give it wider powers.

A third development came yesterday from Mayor Walker in the form of a letter to the governor suggesting that city officials who have refused to waive immunity before the grand jury be asked to sign waivers and testify.

The hearings will begin to-morrow and will be secret in order to protect innocent persons who may be victims of rumors and false allegations.

MILCH COW CONDITIONS UNDER FIRE

Esquimalt Council Will Enforce Dairying By-law More Rigidly in Future

Body Receives Petition and Counter Petition Against Herd of W. Stephenson

Stricter enforcement of the dairying by-law in Esquimalt and all regulations governing the keeping of cows and barns as well as those stating the number of cattle a person can keep, will be carried out in that municipality as the result of a lengthy discussion of the matter at its council meeting yesterday evening. All owners of cows will receive a copy of the existing by-law and will be forced to live up to its clauses on penalty of license forfeiture if a special committee feels that they are growing lax.

The action was taken as the result of a letter from the council, which was brought before the council by a number of petitioners, both for and against, and a threat to remove the milk license of the dairyman involved.

While the medical health officer for the municipality maintained that a strict enforcement of the existing by-law would put all the dairymen in the district out of business, the inventory of conditions will be carried out.

At the meeting yesterday evening a delegation of eleven ratepayers, with varying views on the subject, awaited on the council to threaten the matter of the suspension of William Stephenson's license, ordered by the medical health officer.

PETITIONS PRESENTED

A petition, signed by thirty-six residents was read as follows:

"We the undersigned petition the council of Esquimalt to disallow the grant that case appears to be a property between Colville Road and Elery Street."

Since submission some who were supposed to have signed the list had asked that their names be struck off, it was stated.

The second petition, signed by fifty-three people who lived near Mr. Stephenson, stated they had no objection to the pasturing of cows in that locality.

C. L. Tiffin, who started the first petition when questioned by the reeve, asked if there had been any misrepresentation in his list. The reeve replied that there appeared to be, as some names were included in both.

The reeve noted that some people had wished to make the land a public park.

"There is no one here who would vote the money to make it such," he added.

Councillor Smith noted that Mr. Tiffin had objected against the keeping of cows in that property before on the grounds that too many cows were being kept in the enclosure. The councillor added he did not see why anyone should try to take the bread out of the mouth of some other person.

Wm. Stephenson stated untrue statements had been made about his cows when the petition against them had been taken around. His statement was backed by a member of the delegation.

Councillor Lockley pointed out the fact that the municipality had certain by-laws which governed the keeping of cows.

In a letter from Dr. McCallum the council was informed that he had sent the following communication to Mr. Stephenson:

"You are hereby given notice that your milk license will be suspended September 30, unless by that date you have complied with my repeated request that you reduce your herd of cattle to not more than five."

"Your premises are situated in a thickly populated portion of the municipality, and there have been many complaints about the nuisance caused by your cattle."

"Your stable space is insufficient for more than five head of cattle."

"I have asked you on four occasions since the beginning of the year to cooperate with me in a reasonable manner."

From the opening scenes of "Song of My Heart" to the final notes of the voice of its star, John McCormack, at its close, the audience which heard and saw it at its first performance in the Dominion Theatre yesterday treasured every moment of it. In the skill with which the voice of the great tenor has been recorded in Fox movie tone, in the expert direction by Frank Borzage, and in the fine human elements of the story itself, this rates as an exceptional picture and splendid entertainment.

The audiences are introduced to John McCormack as a talented singer in a little Irish village, saddened by an early disappointment in love. The girl, following the dictates of a dominating aunt, married another. The role is beautifully enacted by Alice Joyce, and Maureen O'Sullivan and Tommy Clifford give delightful performances as the two children.

Ultimately, McCormack goes to America as a world-famous singer, and finally returns to bring happiness to the daughter of the woman he loved by aiding her in marrying the man of her choice.

her. Apparently you are unwilling to do so. For these reasons I am taking the above course of action."

Dr. J. S. McCallum, health officer, stated the matter had come up several times recently and other individual cases had been settled. He had asked Mr. Stephenson to reduce the size of his herd, but had failed to secure action. In reply to a question from Councillor Lockley, Dr. McCallum stated his complaint was both against the size of the herd and the unsanitary condition of the housing.

Reeve Erick suggested that the premises of all milk men keeping cows in the district should be inspected.

Councillor H. Heald moved that the existing by-law be changed to take care of all cases, but found no second.

A delegate wanted to know what the council had against cows in the district, asking the body why it should buy Fraser Valley milk at fifteen cents a quart when it could be produced in the district for ten cents.

A request that a general inventory of cows and grazing lands used as well as barns, should be taken in order to deal with the matter collectively, was made.

The further the herds were moved away from town, the worse conditions became, the health officer stated, noting that the matter was a very vexed issue. There were other offenders beside Mr. Stephenson, he added, saying that if the existing by-law were rigidly enforced all small dairy farms in the municipality would be put out of business. Mr. Stephenson, in another statement, said the provincial inspector had advised he had room for eight cows. If he only had five, it would hardly be worthwhile keeping them, he said.

Dr. McCallum replied that the government inspector was hardly a qualified sanitary authority. It was his duty to test the milk for tuberculosis. Reeve Erick again suggested that a committee, acting with the medical health officer, should take an inventory of the cow situation in the municipality and should report back to the council.

Dr. McCallum withdrew his action against Mr. Stephenson until the council had heard such a committee. Councillor Lockley moved that a copy of the dairy by-law be sent to the different cow keepers in the municipality. He also asked that they be advised an investigation would be carried out, and if any were found not living up to the by-law, they should lose their licenses. The motion carried.

Turn Down Offer For Waterworks System Survey

"I'm $1,000 in pocket," said John Dean, leaving the City Council chamber yesterday evening, after a refusal of the council to undertake a proposal by him that a survey of the waterworks systems of Victoria and the surrounding municipalities for co-ordination purposes be secured.

Mr. Dean offered to pay $1,000, or two-thirds of the cost of such a survey if it were undertaken by prominent London firm of waterworks experts.

While council members offered Mr. Dean a generous offer, it was felt that such a survey was unnecessary at the present time.

AL JOLSON PLAYS LEADING ROLE AT COLUMBIA THEATRE

One of the most beautiful songs in Al Jolson's third picture, Warner Bros. Vitaphone picture, "Say It With Songs," now at the Columbia Theatre is called "Birdies Sing in Cages, Why Can't You?" Behind it is the story of a man named Chapin, once the editor of a New York paper, later convicted of murder and sentenced to life imprisonment in Sing Sing. He introduced canaries and other song birds into the famous prison.

COLISEUM STAR MADE DEBUT ON NEW YORK SCREEN

A movie actor gets to Hollywood sooner or later. In the case of Walter Huston, who plays Trampas, the villain, in "The Virginian," at the Coliseum today, it was later.

For Huston, a veteran of the Broadway legitimate stage, made his first two all-talking pictures at Paramount's Long Island City, and then, after achieving screen renown, he went to Hollywood.

Huston first made "Gentlemen of the Press," in which he played the featured leading part, that of Wick Snell, the editor-hero. Then he made "The Lady Lies," with Claudette Colbert as the leading lady.

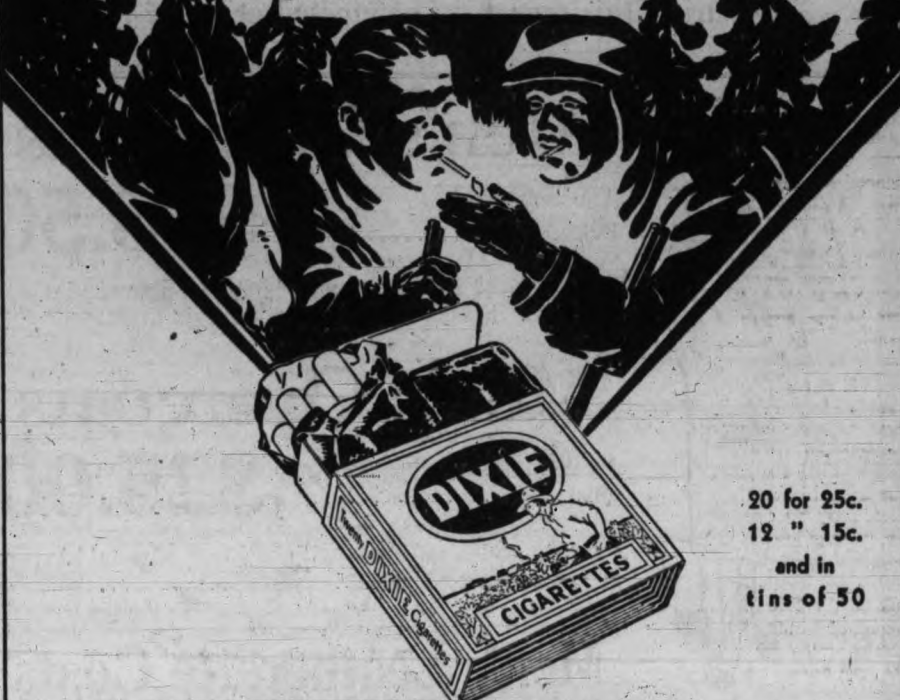

ENGLISH DISCOVERY HAS LEADING ROLE IN CAPITOL CAST

Cecil Cunningham, English stage comedienne and character actress, who is playing a featured role in Ruth Chatterton and Clive Brook's co-starring picture, "Anybody's Woman," which opened at the Capitol Theatre yesterday for a week's run, will soon be seen in another Paramount picture, Maurice Chevalier's latest, as a result of her fine work.

Miss Cunningham was "discovered" by Paramount's casting director when she played in George Bancroft's comedy playlet in "Paramount on Parade." She was seen as the hostess at the party where Bancroft indulged his "impulses."

Miss Cunningham looks English, speaks with an English accent, and has an English name and mannerism—but she is American born. Her father was Patrick Henry Cunningham, old-time ball player, one of the greatest outfielders of his day and a player with the old St. Louis Browns. She was born in St. Louis and sang in a church choir from the time she was seven until she was seventeen, when she left home to go to New York and on the stage. Her first work was in the chorus of "Billie Modiste" in 1906. In 1913 she leaped into stardom in the title role of "The Pink Lady," replacing Hazel Dawn.

LADY CATHCART IS WED TO-DAY

Dowager Countess Becomes Bride of 71-year-old Millionaire

London, Sept. 30.—Vera, Countess of Cathcart, was married to Sir Rowland Hodge, seventy-one-year-old millionaire shipowner, at Prince's Row Register Office to-day.
Crowds gathered hours before the ceremony. The bridegroom arrived before the countess. The bride wore a black georgette and lace frock and a chiffon velvet coat, trimmed with sable. Her hat was of the large "picture" type. She wore also a three-strand rope of pearls, one of the bridegroom's gifts.
The countess was greeted at the door of the register's office by her small son, the Earl of Cathcart, and two sons of the bridegroom.
Among the guests were Henry E. Grey-Warner, the bride's young son, who was married last week, the Duke of Richmond and Gordon, Lord Wyfold and Sir James Heath. The couple were to leave for Paris at once.

ENJOYED HUGE WEALTH FOR DAY

Danish Girl Won Novel Prize: Experiences as "Millionaire"

Berlin, Sept. 30.—Miss Malken Borring, a student of medicine from Copenhagen, Denmark, experienced being a millionaire for a day here.
She had won first prize in a contest sponsored by the Danish daily, Politiken, which meant that she was permitted to spend one day in Berlin with all bills, no matter how high, paid by the paper.
There was one condition, however, Miss Borring was not allowed to acquire anything which might be of value to her after her role of millionaire expired.
She therefore found the task of spending money somewhat difficult. A visit to Prof. Albert Einstein, an airplane spin, a drive about town in a costly limousine, sumptuous meals at the most expensive Berlin restaurants, and attendance at a theatre comprised her day's "extravagances."

Similar work has been successfully carried on in mental hospitals in eastern Canada and Massachusetts, Dr. Crease states, and is to be tried at Essondale.
For some years Miss Kilburn, who was born in Stratford, Ont., has been associated with the Toronto public health department.

WOMAN'S SHOES IN LOVE COMEDY

Berlin Lover Puts Appeal on Wrong Slippers; Is Sued

An elderly woman with a sad face appeared in a Berlin court recently to demand damages from a young man who had thrown her into the lake in the Tiergarten, Berlin's Hyde Park.
The man admitted that he had done so, but pleaded that he had acted under extreme provocation.
He explained with a blush that he had fallen in love with a beautiful girl who was staying in the same hotel as he was. He had thought of nothing but violet eyes and golden curls, but every effort he made to approach her had been coldly repulsed.
He had waited at the door of her room in vain, for she refused even to give him a glance when she left it.
Then, early one morning, there appeared a tiny pair of shoes before his eyes, and he wrote an appeal to the court beauty on their soles.
"I implore you," she said, rushing up. "The wonderful words written on my shoes..." She got no further.
The young man, certain that he was the victim of a cruel hoax, threw her straight into the water.
She demanded compensation for her pretty dress and her injured feelings, and in spite of all explanations of his psychic state, the young man was condemned to pay.
She donned her prettiest dress and was at the rendezvous at the appointed time.
The young man was already there, and the anxious, expectant look on his face left no doubt in her mind that he was the lover who had written on her dainty shoes.
"Here I am!" she said, rushing up. "The wonderful words written on my shoes..." She got no further.
The young man, certain that he was the victim of a cruel hoax, threw her straight into the water.
She demanded compensation for her pretty dress and her injured feelings, and in spite of all explanations of his psychic state, the young man was condemned to pay.

Marriage At Metropolitan Church Monday

A quiet wedding took place yesterday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock at the parsonage of the Metropolitan United Church when Rev. Dr. C. C. Scott united in marriage Muriel Hilda, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bartholomew, 1014th Street, to Mr. Ernest Albert Evans, only son of Mr. Joseph Evans, Clara Street, and the late Mrs. Evans. Owing to the illness of the bride's father, the bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Victor Bartholomew.
The bride was smartly gowned in a Paris model of rose beige lace, fashioned with folds of pastel ribbon around the crown and under the brim. She carried a shower bouquet of pink roses and maiden hair fern. The bride was unattended.
Following the service at the parsonage, a small reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where the bride and groom were assisted in receiving the guests by Mrs. Bartholomew, who wore a gown of cinnamon georgette and hat to match.
Mr. and Mrs. Evans left later by motor for a trip to southern California, and on their return to Victoria will make their home on Clara Street.

Sister Mary's Kitchen

Nothing can excel sweet pickles for furnishing up an otherwise ordinary meal. The simplest meat dish gains zest and no relish tray seems complete without its complement of sweet pickles.
Nearly all the fruits and many of the vegetables lend themselves to this method of preserving. Carrots and cucumbers are most delicious of the vegetables. Carrots retain their color and are very decorative to serve. They are easy to make than cucumber rings on account of their natural firmness of texture. Unless cucumbers are at the right stage of maturity, they are apt to become soft and mushy. Beets, small green tomatoes and ripe small yellow tomatoes can be used to make appetizing and colorful sweet pickles. They are all excellent garnishes for winter salads.
Fresh, canned or dried fruits can be used. This makes it possible to make sweet pickles at any time during the year and not only when the fresh fruits are available. Melon rinds should be added to the list, and in a season when melons and vegetables are generally scarce they should not be overlooked.
Canned pineapple is extraordinarily good when prepared in sweet pickling syrup. Cut the slices in wedges and pour boiling syrup over the fruit for three successive mornings. On the fourth morning, fruit and syrup are brought to the boiling point and put into sterilized jars and sealed.
Daily Menu
Luncheon — Green peppers stuffed with rice and cheese, celery hearts, fresh plums, cup cakes, milk, tea.
Dinner — Broiled filets of flounder with parsley sauce, potato marbles, summer squash, coleslaw, grape juice sherbet, milk, coffee.
Fresh plums, pears, peaches, apples and the seedless grapes are good put up in a sweet pickling syrup. Any fruit which is pickled with the skin or rind on should be well pierced over the entire surface.
The time for cooking fruits in the syrup varies. The fruit can be cooked until tender in clear water and simmered in the pickling syrup until transparent or the whole cooking process can be done in the syrup. The pickled material should be tender and clear but firm and unbroken. Pouring the syrup over the fruit or vegetable for several mornings in succession insures an unbroken pickle but prolongs the time of preparation.
Sweet Pickling Syrup
One quart vinegar, 3 1/4 to 4 pounds light brown sugar, 1/4 cup whole spices.
Break cinnamon into short pieces. Use fewer cloves than cinnamon. Put ingredients into preserving kettle and bring to boiling point. Boil five minutes before adding fruit.
Calculate 1/4 pound sugar for one pound of fruit.

Blames Middle Age, Not Youth, For Jazz Life

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 30.—Middle age rather than youth has been blamed by Dean Luther A. Wiegles of the Yale Divinity School for the evils of "jazz" life which is fast losing all standards of goodness and beauty and truth.
"We have thoughtlessly been blaming youth for our present ills," he said, "but youth has little to do with them. The fault lies with middle age, not with children, but with their parents. A class officer of one of our great colleges has told me that his chief trouble with student drinking is when the boys return from home with a stock of liquor from their fathers' cellars."
Central W.C.T.U.—The Central W.C.T.U. will meet on Thursday at 8 o'clock at the Y.W.C.A.

YOUR BABY and MINE

Mrs. Aldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children, a stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

WHAT SHALL WE DO FOR THE CRY-BABY?

Every mother feels that she must break her child of crying. There are short-sighted methods, for they fail to take into consideration that crying is the chief emotional expression of the child. It may indicate a wide variety of unrelated things: that the child is sick, bored, without playmates, mistreated at home or school, or unable to keep up with his work—the list is endless. But the child doesn't express all these different things in different ways; he expresses them all by crying.

Such is Mrs. E. N. W.'s problem: "My boy is seven years old and cries at every little thing. He was sick so much last winter and had an operation and now he is so nervous. Every day at school-time he cries, though I force him to go. After he gets there he is all right. He is the same way at home; if the least thing goes wrong he cries. We will certainly appreciate it if you will tell us what is wrong."

JUST GUESSES
You have given me too little information, except this past history of illness, upon which to base even a good guess. It may be (you see I am guessing) that he feels school is in some way connected with his past illness. He may be afraid of school for that reason. You may have said: "I won't send you to school because there are so many children there with colds, and I don't want you to be sick again," so he is frightened of school and thinks it may lead to more of the previous kind of suffering.

His past illness may have put him behind his class, so that he is unable to carry on the work and each day is another misery. He may be afraid to cry in school, but tries to avoid it and his unhappiness makes him irritable at home.

CLEAR UP SITUATION
You do him a great injustice not to tell this thing to the bottom. Visit school. Note the teacher's and pupils' treatment of him. Talk it over with his teacher and see if putting him back a grade might ease things for him. Be sure his eyesight is good, his hearing acute, and his tonsils and adenoids healthy. Then stop talking about his past illness or offering him such straws as, "your nervousness." He was sick but he is now well, so keep uppermost in his mind the advantages of this state and the pleasures only well boys can enjoy. Otherwise, he'll hang on to this temporary invalidism until it is a permanent state of mind, if not of health.

Rose M. and Admirer: I shall be glad to answer your letters personally if you will write me again and enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your letter. Your questions are not of the type to be of interest to mothers, for which this column is written.

LAKE HILL W.I. COMES OF AGE

Charming in every detail was the tea staged in honor of the twenty-first birthday of Lake Hill Women's Institute at the Community Hall, on Monday afternoon, and at which over 200 invited guests expressed their good wishes to the members.

The guests were welcomed by Mrs. Scott, the president, and seated at the long table and at several smaller ones around the room. The decorations were carried out with flowers and greenery in shades of white, gold and green, the institute colors. The three-tier birthday cake occupied the place of honor on the long table and was later cut by Mrs. S. F. Tolmie, first president of Lake Hill W.I.

A scene portraying the organization of Lake Hill W.I., by Miss Laura Rose, was carried out by the members dressed in costumes of 1900. During this scene, Mrs. Scott presented Mrs. Tolmie with a bouquet of flowers and Mrs. V. S. MacLachlan, on behalf of the Lake Hill members, presented Mrs. Service with a scroll of honor as a mark of esteem and appreciation of her twenty-one years' services in the institute.

A programme of songs, instrumental music and dancing was given during the afternoon and received with much appreciation. On the programme were numbers by Mrs. Ballantyne, Miss Watson, Raymond and Reginald Porter, and little pupils of Miss Violet Powles. Arrangements for the tea were conveyed by Mrs. Service, assisted by Mrs. Moody, and refreshments were in charge of Mrs. Currie and Mrs. Sheratt.

CIRCLES DOING SPLENDID WORK

King's Daughters Doing Relief and Other Charitable Work, Reports Show

Reports of many philanthropic undertakings by the various circles were given at the district meeting of King's Daughters, held in the rest room, Hibben Building, yesterday afternoon, with Mrs. L. H. Hardie presiding. The reports showed that relief had been given to several families, about twenty quarts of jam sent to the Friendly Help Society, a stove given to the Salvation Army, and two dozen dolls sent to the King's Daughters' Hospital at Duncan.

Mrs. R. Playfair presented the report of the hospital at Duncan, and Mrs. James Stewart stated that 2,751 persons had been served at the rest rooms last month. The rummage sale netted the sum of $80 for the order's funds. Plans were made for the annual sale of work on November 22 at the New Thought Temple, Fort Street, and for an invitation tea in the rest rooms on October 18 from 3:30 till 5:30 o'clock.

It was announced that a gift of a picture had been sent to Miss Jackson on the occasion of her retirement from the superintendency of the hospital at Duncan, and a letter of congratulation sent to Mr. and Mrs. Jaynes of Duncan on the sixtieth anniversary of their wedding. Mrs. Jaynes having been a member of the King's Daughters for over forty years. The next district meeting will be on October 27.

Fraternal Orders Discuss Effect Of Health Insurance

The value of state health insurance results to be expected if British Columbia should adopt the system and the effect which such a policy would have upon the affairs of fraternal orders in the Province, were discussed on Saturday evening at the A.O.F. Hall at a meeting of delegates from many of the lodges of Victoria.

W. F. Fullerton advocated the British system as adaptable to the needs of British Columbia and E. A. Bleathman declared that the fraternal societies possessed machinery which could carry out the act more economically than would be possible by a new department of the government.

Other speakers were Dr. Cyril Wece, Frank LeRoy, K. T. Hughes, R. Nunn, A. Brindley, Mrs. Appleton, Mrs. Fieldhouse, T. Smith, A. R. Colby, A. Greenwood and T. Moody. Arthur Manson was chairman and Albert Downes was secretary to the meeting.

Phases of the problem which were suggested on Saturday will be further discussed at another meeting to be held next month.

Horoscope

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1936

Astrologers read this as a quiet day in planetary direction—a time to make the most of the morning hours.

For many weeks those who read the stars' counsel have been advised to be patient but again the stars counsel wise financial administration.

For this month the Sun is afflicted by Saturn and Uranus, it is announced, and this aspect suggests money problems as well as many others.

Startling events for the two months of the autumn are foretold and much that will increase national consciousness is foretold. Insurance companies and other protective agencies are subject to unusual planetary influences that make forecasts important.

Saturn is supposed to be in a place indicating possible serious international complications since secret machinations are foretold.

All the signs appear to forebode added power for great corporations and losses among smaller business organizations.

Warnings are given of a hard winter in which severe weather will cause much suffering, especially in big cities.

Business should be safeguarded as suddenly and speculation should be avoided, although there will be a strong temptation to dabble in certain stocks.

Influenza again may be epidemic. Precautions against possible contagion wherever even slight colds exist is advised.

Children born on this day probably have artistic talent and be exceedingly fond of intellectual adventure. Many occultists are born under this sign of Libra.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the stars of a sign of such sociability. Friends probably will increase in number.

Annie Besant, theosophist, was born on 1847. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Lord Henry St.

FIRST UNITED CHURCH CHOIR VISITED SIDNEY

Sidney, Sept. 30.—St. Paul's United Church was filled to capacity on Friday evening on the occasion of the visit of the choir of First United Church, Victoria. Expectations created by the last visit a year ago were more than realized, and the enthusiasm carried to a new peak by demands for encores. Mrs. W. H. Wilson, Miss Marjorie Watson and P. J. Mitchell were among the soloists so accorded, while the duet by Mrs. W. H. Wilson and W. C. Fyfe were recalled three times.

The quartette by Miss M. Watson, Miss B. Simpson and P. J. Mitchell and W. C. Fyfe also received a great ovation. Other artists who greatly pleased the audience were Maurice Thomas, tenor solo; Miss B. Simpson, contralto; J. Loudon, bass; the Misses Dorothea and Gladys Lea, mandolin duet; R. Hardy and Mrs. Crowther, readings. The numbers rendered by the choir included "The Angelus Chorus," "Aeolian Lyre," "Eriky Love Lull," "Nymphs and Shepherds" and "Tramp O'er Moss and Fell," from Elton John, the latter number including a solo obligato by Mrs. W. H. Wilson. Two numbers were given by the ladies' choir, "The Distant Bell" and "The Nightingale."

Independent Styles
The cost and dress of the fall ensembles will be distinctly independent of each other in both cut, color and fabric.

Athletics 3 to 2 Favorites to Win World Baseball Championship

THE SPORTS MIRROR

A NOTHER record breaking major league baseball season came to an end on Sunday, leaving the Philadelphia Athletics and St. Louis Cardinals to carry on the battle for the world championship, commencing at Philadelphia to-morrow. The Athletics were among the few "repeaters" carried over from the championship campaign and won a comparatively easy victory in the American League pennant race, yet they had only a small part in the record smashing activities of the year. A check-up in the year's crop of new individual and team batting marks shows only one record for the A's. As a club they went to bat 5,686 official times, eclipsing Detroit's 1929 major league record of 5,529 times at bat.

The A's, however, had the honor of compiling the greatest total of victories for the year in either major league. They won 102 games and lost only 52. In the regular league, where the race was not settled until the last few days of the season, St. Louis won with a record of 92 victories and 62 defeats, two games worse than Washington did in taking second place in the American League. As a whole, the National League contenders did a trifle better than the leading clubs of the junior circuit.

The average of 558, which gave the New York Yankees third place, was just good enough to gain fourth for the Brooklyn Robins. The National League also did somewhat better than the American League performers in the matter of batting out records. No new individual marks for the American League have been revealed. The Yanks, however, set a pair of team marks by scoring 1,067 runs for the season and having 980 runs batted in. The former major league marks of 982 and 933 were set last year by the Chicago Cubs.

Individuals as well as teams surpassed former endeavors in the National League. Led by Hack Wilson, Chicago's stocky climber, they staged an assault that has brought to light two new major league records and three for the circuit and has tied another National League mark. Wilson hit 56 home runs, far surpassing the league total of 43 set in 1929 by Chuck Klein of Philadelphia, and drove in 190 runs to beat the major league record of 175 made by Lou Gehrig of the Yankees.

Deprived of one record Klein went out and made three more. He hit 59 doubles, five ahead of the old record and made a total of 455 bases on his hit. He also scored 158 runs for the season, a record. Johnny Frederick of Brooklyn set the old two-base hit record in 1929, while Rogers Hornsby of Chicago put up the former National League record of 156 runs and 450 total bases a year ago.

All season we have waited patiently for the thing to happen. The other day it happened, and new all-time records were set. A Cleveland player named Nantz got a home run off a Chicago pitcher named Carway.

O'Goofy has asked that this paragraph be reserved for a deed of heroism. He begs to state he is not going to spill any Tom Thumb golf jokes. Hurrah!

Consider Rabbit Maraville. The other day he was able to walk to the plate without crutches and get four out of five.

VON ELM BIDS FAREWELL TO AMATEUR GOLF

Detroit Star and Former U.S. Champion Will Become "Business Man Golfer"

Will Be Neither Amateur Nor Pro; Takes Pot Shot at U.S. Golf Association

New York, Sept. 30.—George Von Elm, United States amateur champion in 1926, has bidden an official farewell to amateur golf competition and, at the same time, taken a pot shot at the United States Golf Association and its policies.

Von Elm, in a formal statement, declared he "would be in the future a business man golfer, neither amateur nor professional," who expects to take the profits from open prize money and yet maintain his own private business. The Detroit star, who has beaten Bobby Jones in a thirty-six hole match in the last seven years of the amateur championship, termed that tournament a "highly organized commercialized project."

"Fifty thousand dollars is paid in for amateur show," he said, "while the thirty-two performers play their golf for honor and glory. Not a penny of that money is contributed by the U.S.G.A. to the expenses of the players. Tournament golf to-day is a business in a big way."

"The finger of suspicion points to many players of amateur golf to-day but the show must go on and here U.S.G.A. buys a good part of the time straining at gnats and swallowing camels."

WILL BE OUTLAW

"From this day henceforth I am no longer an amateur golfer as defined in the rules of the game. Neither am I a golf professional, nor a professional golfer. I am not qualified by training of any kind to become a golf professional. I am simply a business man golfer."

"If the money prizes in open tournament play are waiting when I post my score, I shall treat the situation as I do any other in my business where my income is involved. If the money doesn't meet the expenses of competition I shall thereafter give up tournament play altogether because I've reached the place in life where my business must come first."

Von Elm said his competition in the United States and British amateur and the Walker Cup international matches cost him $10,000 a year.

Massey Unpopular Winner Over Shea

Philadelphia, Sept. 30.—Lewis Massey, Philadelphia featherweight, was awarded the decision over Eddie Shea, slugging little Chicago battler, in the ten-round main event inaugurating the Arena's indoor season. Massey weighed 124.5 and Shea 128.

The decision was unpopular with many of the fans.

Instead of cheering the winner, a home town boy who is popular, the fans appeared dazed at the verdict. Then they cheered Shea for five minutes.

Frank Weiner, chairman of the State Athletic Commission, followed the crestfallen Shea to his dressing room.

"The decision was terrible," Weiner said. "Certainly it was the worst I ever saw. The only thing I can do to relieve the officials of any further work here."

Boxing critics at the ringside gave Shea the verdict by a wide margin. They credited the Chicagoan with seven rounds, Massey with two and three even.

Experts Pick Speedball Artist to Start for Philadelphia and Veteran Spitballer for St. Louis Cardinals; Connie Mack May Gamble by Sending Shores, Walberg or Quinn to Mound.

33,000, INCLUDING PRESIDENT HOOVER, WILL ATTEND FIRST GAME

Simmons and Foxx and Grove and Cochrane Will Be Athletics' Big Bets; Cardinals, After Just Completing Brilliant Winning Streak, Given Good Chance of Winning; Mack Has Big Edge Over Street as Master Mind.

By ALAN GOULD, Associated Press Sports Editor

Philadelphia, Sept. 30.—Most of the other burning issues having been settled for the year, the clans trooped into Philadelphia to-day for the crowning festival of American sport—the world's series of baseball.

It starts to-morrow with the home-town Athletics, two-time champions of the American League, favored to unlimber a couple of double-barreled guns, Simmons and Foxx, Grove and Cochrane, and check the sensational flight of the red birds of St. Louis, champions of the National League.

The city of Quakers has taken the situation this year much more calmly than was the case a year ago, when the return of Connie Mack and his young men to the baseball heights after a lapse of fifteen years created a semi-hysterical outburst of enthusiasm. There has so far been no demonstration over the A's to compare with the mob scenes attending the crowning golf triumph of the Chicago Cubs last October and the return of Connie Mack and his young men to the baseball heights after a lapse of fifteen years created a semi-hysterical outburst of enthusiasm. There has so far been no demonstration over the A's to compare with the mob scenes attending the crowning golf triumph of the Chicago Cubs last October and the return of Connie Mack and his young men to the baseball heights after a lapse of fifteen years created a semi-hysterical outburst of enthusiasm.

Mr. Hoover attended the final and spectacular triumph of the Athletics over the Chicago Cubs last October and he has accepted the invitation of Mayor Harry A. Mackey to be the city's guest again as the Mackmen begin the defense of their world's championship.

Aside from the stampede for tickets and the rather brisk argument over the relative merits of the contending clubs, the main question is: "Who will pitch the opener?"

Charles (Gaby) Street, the veteran pilot of the St. Louis Cardinals, has again furnished his own answer by naming the old spitballer Burleigh Grimes to start the Red Birds on another winning flight.

Volunteers have named Robert Moses (Lefty) to take the ball for the Athletics and throw his fire balls at the opposition, but the man who makes the decision, Connie Mack, has so far refused to indicate his selection. In keeping with his habit of making no premature choice, Mr. Mack says he will nominate his moundman shortly before game time.

The "all tutor" crossed the experts completely a year ago by starting Howard Ehmke in the first game with the Cubs and winning it handily. On the strength of this surprising maneuver quite a few of the boys are covering up their selection of Grove by suggesting that Mack may start Rube Walberg. Bill Shores, a young right-hander, or even old Jack Quinn, who shares with Grimes the privilege of tossing a moist ball delivery.

Grove, not only on the strength of his great record for the year and the fact that he is the number one man of the A's staff, but also because of his ability to pitch the slim southpaw back into action at an earlier date, no later than next Sunday or Monday.

MACK MAY GAMBLE

The Cardinals, however, figure that Grov will be held in reserve, with Mack preferring to gamble on an outsider to capture the opener. They expressed themselves vocally on this and on most counts upon their arrival yesterday afternoon, bristling of confidence and aggressive spirit.

The hotel headquarters of the Cardinals, in fact, has turned out to be in the rules of the game. The National League has galloped into the series at full tilt, carrying with them the momentum of one of the greatest uphill drives to victory on record.

Two months ago the Red Birds were barely hanging on, grasping a first division berth and seemingly lucky to be as much as fourth. They walloped their way upward with a rush that gave them forty-four victories out of their last fifty-seven games. They won by the simple expedient of hammering their main rivals into a pulp or pitching them under the table.

National League men unquestionably are banking upon the supreme confidence and dash of the Cardinals to locate the silver lining in the clouds that have hung heavily over their entire season in the last few world's championship ships. The record of one victory in their last thirteen starts against American League opposition has been no balm whatever for the partisans of the Cardinals. They prefer to believe now that the Cardinals have the punch and pitching to overcome the Athletics rather than that the mere law of averages will operate in their favor.

It may be so. Although the Mackmen, under the shrewd guidance of the sixty-seven-year-old leader, and with a cast comprising a half-dozen super stars, have been established 3-2 favorites in the wagering, the feeling is that the Cardinals have a great fighting club, well equipped to turn the tide. Moreover, the Red Birds were the last team to win for the National League, in 1926.

The nearest thing the Cardinals have to Lefty Grove is Wild Bill Hallahan, who has been called on to face, and he came through with flying colors.

LOUISVILLE BEATS WINGS

American Association Ball Champs Win Fifth Game of Little World Series

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 30.—Kentucky sunshine thawed out the Louisville Colonels, chilled by the wintry blasts at Rochester, and staged a hitting rampage yesterday that ended in a 14 to 7 rout of the Red Wings.

The American Association Ball club cut the lead of the International League champions to one game, the series now standing three victories for the Rochester club and two for Louisville. The winning pitcher, left hander, who started on the mound for the second home run of the series in the fifth, counted heavily for the visitors, while Merrill and Cronin stood out for the Colonels.

HORSE RACING

Harve de Grace, Sept. 30.—Results of horse racing here yesterday follow:

First race, five and one-half furlongs—1, Dark Magnet, $5.00, $3.60, $2.50; 2, Unequal, $4.50, $3.20, $2.10; 3, Phantasm, $2.40. Time 1:07 1-5.

Second race, six furlongs—1, Tommy Boy, $5.80, $4.10, $3.00; 2, Bonair, $4.10, $3.20, $2.10; 3, Fervid, $3.10, $2.40, $1.60. Time 1:07 1-5.

Third race, six furlongs—1, Chianti, $5.10, $3.80, $2.80; 2, Betty Beau, $4.50, $3.40, $2.50; 3, Al Green, $3.10, $2.40, $1.60. Time 1:13 1-5.

Fourth race, mile and seventy yards—1, Her Grace, $4.00, $3.20, $2.10; 2, Full Dress, $2.10; 3, Nile Maiden. Time 1:44 3-5.

Fifth race, mile and one-sixteenth—1, Blimp, $2.70, $2.00, $1.50; 2, Duns, $2.10, $1.60, $1.20; 3, Lolan, $1.50, $1.10, $0.80. Time 1:47 1-5.

Sixth race, mile and one-eighth—1, Light View, $10.00, $6.10, $4.50; 2, Blazing Torch, $5.50, $4.20, $3.00; 3, Come On, $3.10, $2.40, $1.60. Time 1:47 1-5.

Seventh race, mile and one-sixteenth—1, Cabalade, $20.80, $14.50, $10.50; 2, Don Tinky, $17.40, $11.50, $8.50; 3, Tazewell, $2.90. Time 1:50.

a port side with a barrel of stuff, but neither the experience nor the control of the Mack ace, but they have a slugging backstop in Gus Mancuso, who has replaced Jimmy Wilson. Injured regular, including Chick Hafey, George Watkins and Frank Frisch, who doesn't expect an attack of lumbago to affect his work.

Unless Mack upsets expectations, the Athletics will place their pitching burden almost entirely on the shoulders of Grove and George Earshaw. Iron mits, right hander, with Walberg and Shores in reserve. The Cardinals have four or five first-class bow men ready to shoot at the opposition. The list is headed by the crafty Grimes, but includes Flint Rhem, Bill Hallahan, Sylvester Johnson and Jess Haines.

So far as the master mind goes, Mack has a big edge on Street. Connie is plotting pennant winners before Gaby broke into the big show and became famous as the battery mate of Walter Johnson at Washington. The first man to catch a ball dropped from the Washington monument. This is Street's debut as a manager of a major league pennant winner, but it is Mack's seventh bid for world's series honors.

Miracles of Sport

One Member of A's Cost Twice As Cardinals Example of Champion Club Developed From Youngsters

St. Louis, Sept. 30.—That a pennant-winning baseball team can be pieced together for less than $50,000 has been demonstrated by the St. Louis Cardinals, 1930 edition.

When Manager "Gaby" Street sends his team on to the field against the Philadelphia Athletics in the world series Wednesday the actual value of the players will be many times $50,000, but the original cost is under that sum.

Picking players young and developing them through a well organized farm system is the secret of building up a team without paying large sums for talent, take it from cardinal officials.

The Cards will face in the world series one of the men who cost more than twice as much as their entire team. He is Robert Moses Grove, for whom the Athletics paid approximately $100,000.

Stars developed through the Cards farm system will take a major part in this year's baseball classic. In the infield Jim Bottomley and Charlie Gehrert are two who have been developed by the Cards. The first baseman went to work for the Red Birds for less than $200 a month some ten years ago. Gehrert, a star with Rochester a couple of years ago, was brought in off the farm and has become an outstanding shortstop.

STARTED AS YOUNGSTERS

All three of the Cardinal outfielders were signed while they were in their youth. Taylor Douthett and "Chick" Hafey were picked up in California. Hafey was a semi-pro player, and Douthett a university man. Neither cost much. George Watkins was found down in Texas and after seasoning on Card farms was brought to St. Louis this year.

Gus Mancuso, brilliant young catcher, is another Texas product. Playing semi-pro ball, a Card scout signed him for less than $200 a month.

Six of the eight Card pitchers who may see service in the world series have been developed by the St. Louis Club. Herman Bell was signed from the semi-pro ranks; Al Grabow was developed on the Cardinal three-farm; Sylvester Johnson was drafted from the Vernon, Calif., club; Jim Lindsey and "Bill" Hallahan came up from the Cardinal farm in the Texas league and Flint Rhem was signed after he started in college.

HAINES HIGHEST PRICE

Of the Cardinal players, Jesse Haines came at the top price. He was bought for $10,000 from Kansas City. Burleigh Grimes came to the Cards in a trade for "Wee Willie" Sherdel and Fred Frankhouse, both of whom did not cost more than $1,000. Frankie Frisch was obtained in a trade for Rogers Hornsby, who cost the Cards $500. Ernest Ottavio cost the club $2,000.

The Cardinal farm system was started in 1921, when the St. Louis Club decided it could not compete with richer clubs in buying high-price stars. It was a pet idea of Branch Rickey, vice-president of the club. Houston of the Texas league was the first farm team. Now eight clubs besides the Cards are part of the system. "Finds" are sent to the farm teams by "tryout hunters" and when a player merits it he is advanced.

Best of all, the farm system is self-supporting. Rochester, Danville and Houston help pay the way of smaller clubs that occasionally fall behind in finances.

CAUTIOUS BATTLE

The pair came out fighting furiously at the opening ball and slugged it out in the center for a few exciting moments, then settled down to a cautious battle for the rest of the night.

The best fighter on the night's card was young Alan Foston, seventeen-year-old bantamweight, who fought the experienced George Alnsworth to a standstill in four rounds to cop the unanimous decisions of the judges and referee. Alnsworth was the toughest battle for the rest of the night.

Foston has been called on to face, and he came through with flying colors.

CONNE MACK AND COCHRANE BIG FACTORS

Are Two of Main Reasons For Giving Athletics Edge Over St. Louis

Cardinals Outhit Philadelphia on Season; "Breaks" May Decide Series

Philadelphia, Sept. 30.—Two of the factors that help weight the balance of "dope" in Philadelphia's favor in the baseball battle with St. Louis for the world's championship are the man in the dug-out, Connie Mack, and the man behind the bat, Gordon (Mickey) Cochrane.

Mack's shrewdness and great experience, Cochrane's aggressive and masterful handling of the A's moundmen count heavily in a short conflict where the forcing of a few "breaks" at vital moments often proves decisive. They are factors that may have more to do with the outcome of the world's series than the individual brilliancy of Simmons or Grove or Foxx, the fighting spirit of the Cardinals or the law of averages.

So far as the comparative figures and records go, a good case can be made out for either contender in the annual American baseball classic. The greater experience and fine defense of the A's, plus the confidence of the year, 1929 conquest, may be offset by the aggressive attack that carried the Cardinals past all obstacles to the National League pennant. The pitching skill of Grove and Earshaw may be matched by the curving talent of Grimes, Hallahan, Rhem and Haines. The big bats of Simmons, Foxx, Miller, Haas and Cochrane may play a livelier base-hit tune than the clubs of Hafey, Frisch, Watkins, Bottomley and Douthett.

CARDS OUTHIT A'S

As a club, the Cardinals have outhit the Athletics more than twenty points on the season's play. Without much dispute they also overcame a stiff opposition in winning the National League flag than the A's did in repeating in the American League. Where the Mackmen had only Washington to worry about most of the season, the Cardinals had to fight their way through three tough and seasoned outfits—the Robins, Giants and Cubs.

Every regular on the Cardinals club has hit 300 or better for the year, although Bottomley, Gehrert, Douthett and Adams barely got inside this figure. Boley, Blahop, Dykes, Haas and Miller range between 355 and 300 in total bases, but the cleanup wall of Cochrane, Simmons and Foxx have a habit of being produced when his mean runs.

The Cardinals, however, have no backstop to compare with Cochrane in any department of play. Since the injury of Jimmy Wilson, St. Louis has relied on Gus Mancuso, a hard hitter and hard worker, who is expected to do most, if not all, of the catching.

International Cue Tournament Opens in England

London, Sept. 30.—With M. Lindrum, famous Australian, coming to give his three opponents a handicap of 7,000 points, the International cue tournament got under way simultaneously yesterday at London Cedric.

Lindrum faced Tom Newman at Thurston Hall in London. Edward Lomdale, famous sportsman, opened play. Clark McCnatchy, another Australian expert, opposed Joe Davis, English champion, in the match at Cardiff, where the mayor officiated at the opening.

Allowing for the handicaps the scores at the end of the day were: Newman 8,550, Lindrum (in play) 1,522.

McCnatchy 8,361, Davis (in play) 8,301.

Tolley Denies His Intention To Get Married

Tulsa, Okla., Sept. 30.—Cyril Tolley, English golfer, arrived here yesterday somewhat perturbed by reports having to do with him and matrimony.

Reports that he had applied for a license in Connecticut to wed Mary McMahon of New York City were denied emphatically by the golfing Englishman. He explained that it must have been another Tolley who sought the license.

"I am not married, never have been married, and probably will not be for a long time," Tolley announced upon his arrival to visit Logan Van Zandt, Tulsa golfer, and to attend the International Petroleum Exposition, which opens Saturday. "I am very, very much a single man and all this has embarrassed me a good deal."

Tolley will play in several golf matches at the Tulsa Country Club.

NEW BOWLING LEAGUES FORM

Olympic Recreations Make Fine Progress in Organization of Loops

Rapid progress is being made by Olympic Recreations in the organization of its various bowling leagues for the coming season. Meetings are being held every night this week and when the new league opens about the second week in October most of the leagues will be ready to start play immediately. A satisfactory league can be organized with four or more teams. Five players constitute a squad and a league match requires about an hour and three-quarters. Alleys may be reserved at any time during the day and in the evenings from 8 o'clock to 9. The following meetings will be held this week at Kent's Music Store, 641 Yates Street, at 8 o'clock in the evening: Tuesday, Spencer's House League; Wednesday, Service Clubs; Thursday, Women's Commercial Fiveline League; Friday, Olympic Tenpins; Saturday, Olympic Senior Tenpins.

40,000 Will See Opening Game Of Cubs-Sox Series

Chicago, Sept. 30.—Chicago baseball fans have been deprived of world series entertainment at home, but are warming up to the big game by watching the first two games of the intramural championship series will be played at Comiskey Park, stronghold of the White Sox. Roger Hornsby's Cubs were 7-5 favorites to retain the city title won in 1928, but interest was centred more on one game, the first, in which it was indicated that the Cubs would oppose Ted Lyons, Sox ace, in a pitching battle.

O.C. Football

London, Sept. 30.—Luton Town defeated Exeter City by 3 to 1 in a Southern Section, Third Division, English League soccer football match yesterday. The teams played at Luton. Rugby matches played yesterday resulted as follows: Abercrombie 3, Cross Keys 17. Pontypool 3, Newport 4.

Fired with the enthusiasm created through the series of matches against the Japanese rugby players, followers of Victoria and Vancouver are turning their eyes to the McKechnie Cup schedule, the classic series between the big rivals in the field for the inter-city provincial rugby championship. Drawn up by the British Columbia Rugby Union at the close of last season, the schedule for the McKechnie Cup games was released this morning by H. J. Ketchen, secretary, through Fred Cabellu, secretary of the local union.

Despite the earliness of the season, the games put up by Victoria, Vancouver and Varsity against the fast moving Nippons have uncovered an amount of rugby talent which bids fair to be quite equal to that of last year. One of the finest in the history of McKechnie Cup play, The Capital has again produced a back of force that will take a lot of beating from any team in the Three-V League. Vancouver's backs, headed by the redoubtable Len Leroy and Murray Rowan, appear to be of high calibre again. The Varsity squad, while unable to show much against the Japanese in the second half of the final game, displayed speed and trickiness in the first half. When the players are in shape they should prove a stumbling block to the other two contenders in the league.

LEARNED FROM JAPANESE
All three clubs have learned considerable from the Nippons. Victoria realized that something will have to be done to develop the offensive of its back division, and hopes to have the three-quarter line in better working order by December 6, when Vancouver is met in the first game.

Theoretically speaking, Victoria appears to have an edge over her opponents which was not enjoyed for several years. Last year the Capitals smashed the inferiority complex that had dogged them in the McKechnie Cup series by winning one or two games in the first half of the season.

PSYCHOLOGICAL ADVANTAGE
Still another psychological advantage may be found in the fact that Campbell Forbes and Geoffrey Wenman, the city's star forwards, were the main figures in the try which tied the score against the Nippons when the provincial "reps" met them.

The Varsity team against the Japanese was little different to the rep team of last year.

"Chuck" Rutan was among the mislaid, being out of town, but the coaches found an able substitute in the person of Jack Bryden, husky young fullback, whose selection on the B.C. rep team was much talked of before he was put out of the game with injuries. By the time the Victorians enter the cup series, he should be in shape to play in his favorite position.

ALL FORMER STARS
On the three-quarter line Art Fell, Art Webster, Gay Hume, Roy Gault and Pete Tupper should have a merry duel for places. All have played on former rep squads.

Henry Cockin and Bill Pollard looked good as halves in the first game, here and should be able to take care of the scrum.

Reg Wenman, rangy five-eights, whose heady game has frequently opened scoring plays, is expected to turn out for the team.

Among the forwards competition is expected to be particularly keen for places. Campbell Forbes, Geoffrey Wenman, Horace Goad, George Warnock and Bruce Forbes, all outstanding members of the 1929-1930 McKechnie Cup squad are considered almost sure bets, along with Bill Porteous, a new addition to the squad this year. Johnny Rowland, fast-breaking and hard-tackling youngster, is expected back in town long before the opening of the season, and should make a good bid for a place. Bill Wharton and several other good boys also have rep squad ambitions, and the selection committee should have little difficulty in securing a good pack.

From all points of view Victoria's prospects look rosy, but the back field will have to learn to co-operate and move faster on its attack.

Vancouver's white-shirted whirlwinds will run against the Capitals twice before the New Year. If Victoria can nick them for a couple of victories, the chances of the Capital securing the cup will be extremely bright.

Mrs. R. A. Semple Again Captain Of Uplands Women

Mrs. R. A. Semple was returned by acclamation as women's captain of the Uplands Golf Club at the annual meeting held yesterday at the clubhouse. The club enjoyed a great year and the popular skipper and secretary were highly praised for their untiring work during the twelve months.

Mrs. Cecil Eve was re-elected as secretary-treasurer, unopposed, while the following were placed on the executive committee: Mrs. A. M. Boyd, Mrs. J. A. Cameron and Miss Laura Archibald.

Hamilton Smothers Young Varsity Team In Night Encounter

Canadian Rugby Champions Trample U.B.C. Ruggers Into Ground by 38 to 1 Score in First Rugby Game in Canada Under Artificial Lights; Huge Batteries of Lights Make Plays Easy for 4,000 Fans to Watch; Dave Sprague Stars for Bengals.

Vancouver, Sept. 30.—Hamilton's triumphant Tigers are to-day speeding towards Calgary, where to-morrow they will meet the Bengals of the prairie city in the sixth game of their western tour. When tiger meets tiger the fur generally flies, but the Calgary Bengals to-morrow will have to show something extraordinary if they want to halt Hamilton's victory tour.

Yellow and black clad eastern warriors wound up their two-game east series under floodlights yesterday evening by defeating a youthful and inexperienced University of British Columbia twelve, 38 to 1. Hamilton's total point score for five games to date is 143, whereas their opponents have succeeded in getting only eight points. Calgary Tigers will have to do some high stepping if they are to succeed where Winnipeg, Saskatoon, Edmonton and two Vancouver teams have failed.

Yesterday evening's game, the first ever played in Canada under artificial lighting, was a success from the start as far as the after dark innovation and Tigers themselves were concerned. Four thousand fans watched every move of both teams with interest and without eye-strain. The huge batteries of lamps playing their parts well. High points were clearly followed, tricky line plays were easily seen, and only one major fumble was recorded during the game.

The boys from the ambitious city were at their best, their powerful line and tricky halfbacks all showing to first class advantage. They led at half time by 24 to 0, and although after ten days of strenuous competition, managed to add another fourteen points to the count in the second half, meanwhile holding the hapless students to a lone point.

Dave Sprague, youthful line-planner with the Bengals, covered himself with glory by scoring three touchdowns, two of them after long runs.

FIRST QUARTER
Vancouver had the better of the exchanges with Latta's running and kicking, forcing Tigers all back into their own territory. The Bengals, however, soon got their famed line going and planged right down the field to Varsity's twenty-yard line. Here the students held, forcing Tigers to kick. Wright punting over the single point.

Following a few more kick exchanges Tigers started another downfield march, led by Timmis and Beano Wright. This attack culminated when Timmis crashed over for a touch-down. Leadley converted to give the Bengals a 7 to 0 advantage.

SECOND QUARTER
Just after the start of the second quarter, Dave Sprague, lenky Hamilton line-man, broke through the Varsity line and ran fifty yards through a broken field for a touchdown. Leadley again converted, to give the visitors a 15 to 0 lead. Sprague's spectacular run gave the crowd its first real thrill. Varsity kicked off and Tigers started another parade goalward. The students could do nothing to hold the yellow-striped crew, who marched right over for another touchdown. Sprague did the ball carrying again with Leadley

Bobby Jones On Golf

The initial movement in the golf swing, that which starts the club travelling away from the ball, has always been a puzzling one to describe. The whole thing occurs so nearly simultaneously with the hips, arms, hands and clubhead starting to move at so nearly the same time that it is difficult to determine just where the motion originates.

One thing revealed by fast motion picture photography is that nearly all expert players permit the clubhead to lag behind the arm motion during the first few inches of the backstroke. Pictures showing the player's position when the clubhead has traveled only a few inches show that the hands have traveled farther and that the shaft of the club no longer occupies the same position with respect to the arms as at the time of address, but that the wrists are flexed slightly backward toward the ball. This is an indication of two important things; first, that the motion of the swing originates back of the hands and wrists; and second, that there is perfect relaxation, permitting the weight and inertia of the clubhead to make itself felt before it is flung back to the top of the swing.

In describing this feeling, the pro tells his pupil that the clubhead should be "dragged" away from the ball or that it should be "flung" to the top of the stroke.

THE MOTION COMES FIRST IN BACKSWING
That the first motion of the backswing should be made by the legs or hips there can be little doubt. To start it with the hands results invariably in the lifting upright motion characteristic of the beginner who swings the club as though it were an axe, elevating it to the shoulder position without a semblance of the weight-shift and shoulder-turn effected by the professional. But there are various opinions concerning the best way consciously to begin the motion.

George Duncan believes that the swing is begun by the knees—that the player "takes off from the left foot" by employing a quick knee action and swings the weight over to the right foot. This is all right and may in certain cases be true enough. But the trouble is that when the player actually puts his mind upon knee motion and upon shifting the hips first, he is more apt to pull his entire body backward and settle his weight upon the heel of his right foot before his club gets underway.

Like Alex Morrison's idea concerning better balance, the revision of the player to accomplish the proper hip shift without altering too much the pivotal point of the swing, that is, without disturbing the position of the head and shoulders, Morrison's advice assumes a position of the left foot such that the toe points slightly outward, away from the ball. The procedure then, as the initial movement of the backswing is to roll the weight across the ball of the foot; in other words, to slowly turn the foot over upon its inside without, at first, removing the heel from the ground.

This method has first of all the advantage of definiteness and clarity. The pupil is not left to experiment with vague conceptions of knee action and the shifting of weight. He has something concrete upon which to fix his attention, and while it may work to accomplish what others advocate, it does so without the necessity of the player's knowing what it is.

PROPER POSITION OF SWING ESSENTIAL
It is important that a correct start be made so that the player will be in position at the top of the swing to deliver the blow in the most efficient manner possible. To be able to do this his weight must be back of ball and his club must be in position to be swung around against the ball and not to be chopped down upon it. To accomplish the first of these the shift of weight to the right; foot is imperative, and obviously it is a more easily controlled action if the order is "shift, turn," rather than "turn, shift," for in the latter case all sense of balance would be destroyed. The correct position of the club, the second factor of importance, is more easily accomplished in the manner described, because the shift of weight pulling the club away from the ball, at the same time causes the clubhead to come away inside the line of flight, the very opposite of the chopping stroke referred to.

I often believe that to start the backswing correctly is one of the hardest jobs the beginner has to accomplish. It is always easier to follow a motion correctly started than it is to initiate it into the proper direction. There is a confusing something about taking off from a position of rest which leaves the average beginner in a state of helpless perplexity.

SHOOTING WITH SHUTE

There are days when any player knows the minute he has hit his first shot that he is off his game. I hope this article will show you how to get back on your game and save you those five or ten strokes.

I have found that the quickest relief from those moments is to alter ever so slightly the grip on the club. I frequently try a closer grip on the club and then, if that doesn't work, I grip the club clear out on the end. Then I go back to my normal grip and more often than not I'm ready to play my regular game.

This practice works best with wood clubs, long irons and the putter. Sometimes I also change my stance when putting to get the putting touch back. I put with my feet apart, according to whatever I think will work better. Sometimes I change my grip of the club shaft slightly for a green or two.

Len Harvey Wins Unpopular Verdict Over Veteran Shade

London, Sept. 30.—Dave Shade, California middleweight, lost a fifteen-round decision here yesterday evening to Len Harvey, British champion.

Booing greeted the verdict, some spectators evidently believing Shade was entitled to no worse than a draw. The British gave a good exhibition of clean, hard fighting. The referee said Harvey had piled up enough points in the last round to win by a very narrow margin.

WILL PREPARE NEW BY-LAW FOR BARBER SHOPS

Petitions Before City Council to Be Investigated and Action Taken

Preparation of a by-law to govern the closing of barber shops in the city will be undertaken by the city solicitor upon condition that a petition submitted to the City Council yesterday evening is found to contain the required three-fourths of the names of persons occupied in the profession.

Petitions for repeal of all existing by-laws governing the matter and for the passing of a new by-law were before the council.

City Solicitor H. S. Pringle explained that owing to a technicality in one of the old by-laws, passage of a new one was needed to make the closing rule on barber shops hold. He was then instructed to draw up a new by-law. It was found that the petitions were in order.

The council dealt with a light agenda.

SEAPLANE BASE
The Department of National Defence advised that no further action should be taken with regard to seaplane traffic in the Inner Harbor until a decision had been reached on certain objections raised in this connection.

Alderman E. S. Woodward stated that the situation existing in this regard was a deplorable one. Earlier in the year the council had been advised to accept the Inner Harbor as a seaplane base site and after negotiating with two lines to start traffic were told to delay action.

Alderman W. T. Straith explained that a meeting was to be held to discuss the matter with Squadron Leader
Carter Guest and the communication was laid on the table.

Copies of the report on the Provincial Government inquiry into conditions under which blind men are working to B. C. will be forwarded by the city to petitioners who drew attention of the council to the situation, it was decided.

Investigation of three appeals by owners of condemned buildings who wished to leave their structures standing left in the hands of the finance committee.

TENDERS FOR UNIFORMS
The city purchasing agent will be instructed to call tenders for purchase of thirty-seven pairs of winter trousers and nine overcoats for the police force, on recommendation of the Police Commissioner.

Permission to John Dean, A. Walker,
D. Walker, and W. J. Sanders to enter city watershed property was granted.
A report of the city sanitary inspector on the convention of the Sanitary Inspectors' Association at Winnipeg early this month was received and filed.

H. E. Hoosen was appointed to the permanent staff of the fire department, having served probationary term.
A further extension of six weeks'
leave of absence to Fire Chief Stewart was granted.

City to Donate
Land for Girl Guide Building
The City Council yesterday evening decided to donate a city-owned lot to the Girl Guides' Association for a site for a headquarters building. The city land commission will be instructed to select a suitable piece of land.

Alderman J. L. Mara explained that similar action had been taken in the case of the Boy Scouts' Association, which now have a fine building on Johnson Street.

Would Lease Auto
Show Building To Dealers in City
Leasing of the automobile building at the Willows exhibition grounds to motor dealers of the city for an eleven-year period on the basis of the dealers
providing a show every year during fair week and keeping the structure in repair, was considered by the City Council yesterday evening.

It was pointed out by Aldermen E. S.
Woodward and H. O. Litchfield, who moved the lease be granted, that the automobile show was a good attraction for the fair and would, by this means,
be ensured for a number of years.

Other members of the council felt,
however, that the city would lose a certain amount in rentals each year and the question was laid over for further information in regard to the amount of rentals and repairs needed.

Canadian Coal Production Off 17.2 Per Cent.

Ottawa, Sept. 30. (By The Canadian Press).—Canadian coal mines produced 1,100,614 tons of coal during August, a falling off of 17.2 per cent from the five-year average for the month.

Bituminous, raised during August amounted to 826,406 tons, sub-bituminous coal, 36,785 tons and lignite coal, 187,683 tons. The output in Nova Scotia was 536,565 tons; in New Brunswick, 16,831 tons; in Saskatchewan, 19,246 tons; in Alberta, 588,307 tons; and in British Columbia, 129,253 tons, says Dominion Bureau of Statistics report to-day.

Coal imported during the month, totalled 1,800,096 tons as against the 1925-1929 average for August of 1,917,501 tons. Anthracite coal imports amounted to 767,755 tons, made up of 52.5 per cent from the United States, 33.1 per cent from Great Britain, and 14.4 per cent from Russia.

Exports of Canadian coal amounted to 68,341 tons, an appreciable advance over the August five-year average of 71,477 tons. Increased tonnage exported to Newfoundland accounted for the advance.

STEEL OUTPUT IS LOWEST SINCE 1924

The 1930 output of steel will unquestionably be the lowest since 1924, says The Brookline Economic Service Incorporated, in its latest analysis of the steel outlook. The analysis finds that operating efficiencies by the steel manufacturing companies, thorough as they have been, cannot offset the loss occasioned by the great volume reductions of this year, especially in view of the accelerated price decline.

As to the future, the analysis states: "Looking ahead to 1931, it is hard to expect to continue in demand for steel sufficient to permit production for the first half to approach the volume in any recent year. The outlook for each of the three major consuming industries can be considered only fair at best. Building operations are steadily declining, and this trend is expected to continue into next year. Automobile production is being held to the lowest level witnessed in recent years and inventories are still burdensome. While operations in this industry are near bottom, no material improvement is expected in this industry for several months. A level of operations approaching average for the first half of 1930 is out of the question during the corresponding period of the coming year. Orders for railway equipment were rushed through but since then have been extraordinarily small. It will be the second quarter of 1931 before business from this source will approach that placed in the corresponding period of the previous year."

Chicago Hawks Owners Facing $500,000 Suit

Chicago, Sept. 30.—A $500,000 echo of Chicago's hockey war of four years ago, sounded yesterday when a jury was selected to hear the suit of Edward Livingston, of Toronto, against Major Frederic McLaughlin, William J. Foster and John B. Keogh.

Livingstone, who owned the Chicago Cardinals, claims McLaughlin and his associates in the ownership of the Chicago Black Hawks, conspired to get Livingston's players to jump their contracts with the Cardinals, and is suing in Federal Court for $500,000.

POLICE HUNTING BOLD ROBBER BALDWIN TO CONTINUE AS PARTY LEADER

Vancouver, Wash., Sept. 30.—Police of Columbia River communities to-day were looking for a twentieth century Jesse James, who held up two Seattle-Portland stages yesterday evening.

Described as a dark complexioned, possibly an Indian or a Mexican, about twenty-five years old, the bandit boarded the 8 p.m. North Coast north-bound stage in Portland.

About seventeen miles north of here, on a lonely stretch of road, the robber produced an automatic pistol and held up the eleven passengers, after ordering all lights in the bus extinguished. Some of the passengers took advantage of the darkness to hide their valuables and the robber obtained only a few watches and $12 or $15 in cash.

The bandit, who was not masked, then ordered the driver to flag a south-bound International stage and boarded it with his loot.

En route to Portland he repeated his performance, but was more successful, obtaining $50 or more and helping himself to a hat and coat belonging to passengers.

When the stage reached Portland, the bandit left the car at a downtown corner, commanded a taxi and vanished.

Two automobile loads of officers passed the southbound stage during the perambulating robbery. They had been summoned by the first stage driver, but permitted the second stage to pass unchallenged.

TOMATOES HERE ESCAPE FROSTS

Pears and Plums Continue to Overload Local Fruit Market

Bulk Shipment of Apples Controlling Situation on the Prairies

Victoria produce market is well supplied with local grown fruits and vegetables, the Department of Agriculture reports to-day.

The recent frost that killed the tomato vines in the Okanagan Valley only touched low lying parts of the lower mainland and Vancouver Island, so these parts will continue to supply the market with tomatoes. The lower mainland growers are shipping heavily to the prairies. Three cars ready to roll and three more loading war their report on Saturday afternoon.

Pears and plums continue to overload the local market.

Following department wire from Calgary gives latest market news there as follows:

"Weather cool with indications of snow. Country roads very bad. Farmers hoping for better drying weather as grain in stock not drying as fast as could be wished. Business in all lines very quiet. This particularly true of fruits and vegetables. Preserving fruit have lost their attraction for the housewife. There are considerable quantities still in the jobbers' hands, mostly peaches.

"Apples only in fair demand. Bulk shipments are still arriving and controlling the market. Decision of the interior committee of direction to prohibit further shipments of McIntosh bulk received general approval of the local jobbers. The better grades of this variety are relegated to background as long as consumers can secure bulk. One large department store graded and sold entire car bulk yesterday. The car consisted of Orenco, Wimer's Dessert, Wealthy and Peagood Nonsuch. Cabbage is also very plentiful with quotations at $70 per ton. Outlook for British Columbia vegetables finding prairie market this fall and winter not very promising."

GROUP ACTION IN TRADE FIELD IS OPPOSED

Canadians at League of Nations Sessions Frown on European Scheme

Geneva, Sept. 30.—Its hardest forensic battles over disarmament and economic relief scheme concluded, the Eleventh Assembly of the League of Nations yesterday evening entered on its closing phase. At the evening session the assembly began to ratify the work of its six committees by adopting reports dealing with manifold activities of the League.

A final scrimmage occurred yesterday afternoon in the economic committee between Europeans and overseas delegates interested in world markets for farm products. The Europeans wished to obtain the blessing of the League for their plan to set up preferential tariff rates in Europe for their goods.

Canadians, South Africans and Australians insisted the League could not actively approve of any limited group action which might operate against the interests of another state or group.

FLANDIN SPEAKS
In the course of the debate, Pierre Etienne Flandin, French Commerce Minister, declared overseas countries were, by their attitude, obstructing the work of the League.

These overseas members of the League, especially the Dominions of the British Empire, M. Flandin asserted, had been objecting in the economic committee, to approval by the Assembly of preferential tariff rates in Europe for European agricultural products.

These objecting members held approval would be contrary to the League's ideal of universality because it would tend to shut out overseas producers from free competition in European markets.

M. Flandin told the committee Canada and other non-European agricultural producers were separating themselves more and more from the League's economic programme and were menacing the success of the movement for concerted action to remove obstacles of trade.

The debate arose during consideration of resolutions adopted by the Warsaw conference for a group of Danube and Baltic agricultural states acting in behalf of their export trade with other European countries.

Mr. Baldwin himself, who returned Sunday to London from the continent, had nothing to say, but the statement was issued after he had conferred with Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain, the party's chairman, on Monday.

The declaration says there is no truth whatever in the rumors, which are entirely unfounded, and adds that Mr. Baldwin will address a public meeting before Parliament assemblies on October 28 at which meeting he will state the Conservative Party's policy.

Rumors of the resignation are said to have been due to constant attacks by advocates of Empire free trade, who for some time have been making a vigorous case on Mr. Baldwin's refusal to adhere to their views, which involve adoption of taxes on foreign foodstuffs imported in Britain.

A further indication that the party leaders do not sanction food tariffs was furnished by a notification yesterday from headquarters to Sir Herbert Liddard, Conservative candidate in the by-election in Paddington, that the

Makes Night Trip By Plane to See Sick Daughter

Making an emergency airplane trip to the city because of his daughter's serious illness here, F. Olsen, Seattle, landed in darkness at the Lansdowne airfield yesterday evening about 7:30 o'clock.

The plane, piloted by Arthur Lee, circled over the airport in the darkness as the pilot tried to discern the runway. Passing motorists, attracted by the plane's motor drew alongside the field and with aid of their lights, the plane landed perfectly. Mr. Olsen rushed to his daughter's bedside.

Guest Here To Talk Over City Aviation Plans

Squadron Leader Carter Guest, who is in charge of aviation matters for the Federal Government in British Columbia, arrived here at noon today by airplane from Jericho Beach, to meet transportation officials and civic authorities this afternoon regarding the use of the Inner Harbor for seaplane traffic. He was accompanied by Flight Lieutenant Johnson and was met by Alderman W. T. Strath, chairman of the city industrial committee. The plane landed in Esquimalt Harbor.

Preliminary steps for formation of a Victoria carpenters' union, free of international affiliations, were taken yesterday evening at Harmony Hall, when forty craftsmen were addressed by W. West of Vancouver. An organization meeting will be held in two weeks.

Hotel Lobby Gossip

Inspector T. Dann of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, was in the city from Vancouver today on an inspection of the offices and barracks of the local branch of the service.

Inspector Dann is the officer who was in charge of the detachment of Royal Canadian Mounted Police which quite unintentionally failed to salute the Lord Mayor of London while passing the Mansion House in the parade to the Royal Military Tournament at Olympia.

The failure of the Canadian mounted policemen to give the customary salute to the Lord Mayor caused quite a stir in London, the incident being given wide publicity in the British newspapers and through the overseas cables. The members of the Canadian detachment, who were on duty at the time, had been informed of the Lord Mayor's presence on the route of the parade and trooped by without acknowledging the presence of the chief magistrate.

The fuss attending the mistake caused British people to laugh a lot and the incident was then forgotten. The Canadian police were sent to London to show their prowess and they acquitted themselves magnificently in the tournament.

Turley Brothers of Parkville, have long figured in government contracts on Vancouver Island, and the name is a familiar one in building circles. The two brothers, J. J. Turley and W. E. Turley, are in the city today from Parkville, and are at the Dominion Hotel.

They are conferring with the Department of Public Works on contract work they have in hand up the Island.

At the Empress Hotel today they are still talking about the bearded man who claims to have a voice powerful enough to shake buildings. He has been interviewing Manager H. J. Willson with a view to securing the bailment in which to test the power of his voice. The negotiations are as yet incomplete.

EXPLORER COMES FROM NORTH TO MAKE HOME HERE

By Foot and Dog Team, W. B. George Explores New Vast Northern Empire

Big Game and Minerals Are Plentiful, But Long Way From Civilization

After covering 1,100 miles by foot and dog team, exploring an unknown part of British Columbia, W. B. George, mining prospector, returned to Victoria this afternoon from Ketchikan, Alaska. He left here last spring and accompanied only by an Indian packer and his dog team left civilization at Telegraph Creek, B.C., and entered the northern wilds. He explored for 250 miles north of Telegraph Creek and then for some 150 miles east of that.

"It is another vast empire in there, with great mineral deposits and herds of big game," Mr. George said. "Of course, it is a long way from being developed because of its isolation."

Mr. George and his Indian packer and their dogs lived off the country they went through. They were continuously meeting caribou and moose. He brought out with him by dog pack many samples of mineral showings he found. He made the exploration for the mining organization with which he is connected.

MET AT KETCHIKAN

Coming out, Mr. George came through Alaska and sailed on the St. Prince Ruper, from Ketchikan. He met there by his wife and Mrs. Smith-erling, her sister, who have been at Stewart, B.C., all summer. They are taking up their permanent residence in Victoria. Besides their two motor cars, which were sent before their arrival today, they brought down from the north some especially fine moose and other mounted heads which Mr. George has been hunting.

Mr. George has been well known all through the north for years, and became particularly prominent when the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company bought his George Gold-Cop mine for a large sum of money.

Since the decision this summer to incorporate their town as a municipal city with a mayor and council the citizens of Stewart, B.C., have proposed Mr. George as the city's first mayor. He said he had not made up his mind yet whether he would have time to enter politics.

Mr. George also has large mineral holdings of her own in the north.

Temperature Good During Month; Precipitation Fair, Sunshine Below Par

Maintaining a fairly even temperature, without either intense heat or intense cold, September was drawing to a close this afternoon without any features other than of holding the mercury one degree higher, on an average, than is usual at this period of the year.

The sunshine mark, standing at 197 hours for the first twenty-nine days, promised, with an estimated ten hours today, to come within four hours of the average for the month. Precipitation stood at 1.40 inches, just 33 below the average, but a little higher than that for the same month last year.

For the period from January 1 to the present, rainfall is 3.20 inches below the average, standing at 11.92 inches to date. However, with three months still to go, the year may come up to par, it was stated by F. Napier Denison at the Gonzales Hill Observatory today.

In comparison with September, 1929, the fall up to the present is encouraging, the total precipitation for the first nine months of last year being 9.23 inches, 5.89 below the average.

TUBERCULOSIS SEAL SALE TO BE HELD AGAIN

Kiwianians to Organize Campaign For Christmas Contributions

Health of Community Improved By Funds Raised By Sale, Club Is Told

The public health of the city had been advanced by use made of money raised by the Victoria Kiwanis Club through the sale of tuberculosis seals at Christmas. Donald McAdie, vice-president of the club, stated this afternoon at the regular, weekly luncheon. He announced that the annual campaign would again be organized this Christmas, and that the members would be expected to aid in eliminating all expense, other than the cost of the seals, stationery and postage stamps.

Mr. McAdie reported the Victorian Order of Nurses was conducting a special count following up service in tuberculosis cases, as a result of arrangements between the order and the Kiwanis Club's seal committee. Much success was being attained.

In two years the Kiwanis Club had raised $9,534 by sale of seals. Grants made last year had included $2,000 to the Jubilee Hospital towards construction of a new tuberculosis ward and a grant of $2,500 to St. Joseph's Hospital, used for shelter sheds for tubercular patients. The Victorian Order of Nurses had been allotted $1,612, which was used to pay the salary of a nurse assigned to follow up tuberculosis contacts.

CONVENTION SUCCESS

The great success of the convention of the northwest district of Kiwanis, held here recently, was commented upon by Mr. McAdie, who reported reception from many clubs of letters of appreciation of hospitality.

Atwell D. King analyzed the proceedings of the convention. He briefly reviewed a number of the addresses, and pointed to several successful public service undertakings reported from a number of clubs.

Mr. King remarked that election of Harold M. Digson as district governor had been popular with the delegates.

NEW MEMBERS

Dr. William Russell officiated at the formal welcoming of Harvey Bole and Rowan MacKenzie as new members. Kiwanian Llewellyn Jones rendered a group of vocal solo, accompanied by the Kiwanis orchestra. The orchestra played several selections during the luncheon.

May Alton, Lady Sutherland, and Mrs. R. B. Bole were introduced as new members. Mrs. Bole was introduced as a new member. Mrs. Bole was introduced as a new member.

HOCKEY STAR PASSES AWAY

Frank Haquoil, Famous With Fort William Teams, Dies To-day

Fort William, Ont., Sept. 30. —Frank Haquoil, the swooping hawk of amateur hockey, is dead. Thirty-one years old, the iron-bodied French-Canadian today succumbed to a lingering illness of the stomach, complicated by a recent operation. He had been dangerously ill for weeks, although a year ago he was preparing for one of his greatest seasons on the ice.

Haquoil, always a star for Fort William until last season, stepped across to Port Arthur, where he had found most of his hockey in previous years. With the three-time Allan Cup team last year, he played through to the Canadian finals only to lose out to Montreal Amateur Athletic Association. Known as the hardest fighting member of the team, Haquoil was a favorite of both lakehead cities and of many western Canada cities, where he had played. "The Hawk" is survived by a widow and son. Two nephews, Gordon and Ossie, are well-known hockey men.

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

By Branson, Brown & Co. Ltd.

Winnipeg, Sept. 30.—Wheat—The strong tone which features the market in the closing stages yesterday was again in evidence to-day, and although export interest was not particularly encouraging, substantial price advances were recorded.

The Liverpool market was quite disposed to follow the advance of this side and very firm cable, which were generally stronger during the morning, gave confidence to the buying side. Local futures led the way in the upturn, and it was evident that selling pressure was at a minimum for this season of the year. This advance of heavy offerings caused the advance to be quite rapid.

During the first hour gains of around one cent were held, and toward mid-session prices looked as if they might sag, but thereafter local buying became quite aggressive, and with commission houses also active in the buying side, the market was again raised by about two cents in very short order. Export business was placed at about half a million bushels, largely Manitoba, but there was a feeling that the firm tone here might cause more interest to be taken in North American wheat.

Outside buying was not a very important factor, but southern interest was credited with support for the May, and locally there was a fair amount of spreading from the nearby to the deferred months. There is no doubt but what most of the buying was in the nature of short covering, not so much local as it was mostly credited to New York, and probably represented export business that had been worked some weeks ago for October first shipments.

The Liverpool market closed firm, 2 to 2½ higher, not as strong as they were weak yesterday. Russian buyers were still reported as offering wheat freely, but short covering and investment buying were the main factors in all markets, following the dealings with prices at lowest level on record. Winnipeg futures closed from 2 to 2½ up, or about one cent from the extreme low.

Coarse grains—Oats and barley were fairly steady; but trade was very light in all these markets. Pressure is not heavy, but there is very little demand from any source, and the market continues dull with only an odd car changing hands.

Flax felt the strength in wheat to some extent, closing for 1 to 1½ higher. Very little going on. Liverpool due ½ to 1 higher on Winnipeg.

WHITNEY LETTER

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)

New York, Sept. 30.—Whitney of Wall Street Financial Bureau says to-day:

FURTHER LIQUIDATION

"What technical rally the market appeared to have coming to it last Saturday and which possibility was pointed out as capable of assuming a two or three-day importance, would itself upturn speedily in the early part of yesterday's session to the tune of a renewal of security liquidation on the part of banks who have found it of the utmost importance that their houses be put in order. The adoption of this programme on the part of a considerable number of out of town banks, was pointed out here last Friday, with the reason for the decision being that, after waiting practically a year for customers to liquidate loans against securities, they have been forced into a process of forcing out what to them represented bad, or at least doubtful loans. It was then considered that this feature would account for considerable pressure on the market in the next few days from that time.

"As it stands at present, this liquidation will have to wind itself up, I believe, by being crystallized into a 5,000,000-share day during which the temper of the market takes on the semi-panic aspect, but which itself would call for the shutting off, at least temporarily, of the liquidating programme by banks who have, along with the desire to get out of securities, certainly no idea of endangering the country's financial structure. Believe that a day of this type will be the signal for them to 'cease firing' and that we could easily get it to-day or to-morrow.

"The unfortunate part of the whole thing is, of course, that it receives its worst reflection in the 'chips' issues, which find themselves in the anomalous position pointed out in detail here yesterday. It is in the opinion of the list that the worst situation exists, with even this situation, as shown yesterday, being over-reflected in the generally recognized stock market averages. These averages, on the other hand, have now come to within a matter of a few points of the possibility which was pointed out for them last Friday and which was that they would approach, or moderately violate, the June low.

"With last night's closing in the Dow Jones industrial representing a three-point violation of the lowest level in June, we have been brought into the territory where a turn could and should be made, but I think we will have to have one more bad day before this particular phase of market reaction is wound up. Such days characteristically close up fairly near to opening prices, in spite of the fact that they register much lower prices during the session. It is by no means impossible that the type of day needed to wind up the decline will come to-day, but until we get it, stay out of the market."

NEWSPRINT WAR MAY BE AVERTED

Montreal, Sept. 30.—The Gazette in its financial gossip, comments on the situation as follows:

"While the week-end failed to bring forth anything new of an official nature in the newspaper situation, it was created by the resignation of J. H. Price as head of the Newspaper Institute of Canada, and the implication that such action would bring in its wake a newspaper price-war, private advice reaching here from New York was more reassuring. It was a matter of general knowledge that leaders of both industry here were in conference in New York, and by a reliable authority The Gazette was informed that indications were that the situation was well in hand, with no immediate danger of a price war. A meeting of the Newspaper Institute is scheduled to be held here on Tuesday, this gathering having been called some time ago.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—My friend does not believe in marriage. He says it kills love and asks me what I see in it. I told him I thought marriage and children brought happiness, and that he was selfish in trying to evade it. He wanted marriage and children for my own happiness. Which one of us is right? MARY.

Answer: You are. When a man asks a woman to enter into any other relationship with him than that of honorable marriage, it is because he is utterly selfish and self-centred, and because he thinks so much more of himself than he does of the girl that he is willing to sacrifice her to himself.

He wants the privileges of marriage without paying its penalties. He wants a woman to give him the devotion of a wife, a woman who will belong to him, a woman whose thoughts and interests will concentrate on him and to whom he can go for companionship and sympathy and understanding, but he doesn't want to saddle himself with the burden of her support. And he wants to leave himself free to leave her without the bother of messy divorce proceedings or having to pay alimony when he tires of her and sees somebody younger and fresher and with the charm of novelty.

So, my dear Mary, beware of the man who tells you that he doesn't believe in marriage. He is a coward and a quitter, and he bodes you no good, as they used to say in old-fashioned melodramas.

As for his statement that marriage kills love, that hasn't a leg to stand on. There is not a particle of truth in the specious theory that there is something about illicit love affairs that makes them more enduring than those blessed by the Church and acknowledged by society. Why should there be?

The test of all love is daily association. The clash of different temperaments. The disillusion of a man and woman seeing each other with the paint off, when they are sick and tired and worried and cross, when they have let themselves go, both as to looks and to temper.

It is the difference in tastes, in habits and points of view. It is the fight between the selfishness of a man and a woman each of whom is determined to have his or her own way. It is the getting bored with each other and fed up on each other's society.

It's the strain of daily life together that makes a man and woman fall out of love with each other, and whether they are married or unmarried has nothing to do with it.

But the couple who are married have at least this advantage: that they have a community of interests, and that of itself makes one of the strongest bonds in the world. They are husband and wife and they stand or fall together, the prosperity of one is the prosperity of the other. They have the same hopes, plans and ambitions. They have built their home together and they have the tie that binds in their children.

Besides, so curiously is the human heart devised, and so much egotism have we all that the mere fact that an individual belongs to us, is our husband or our wife, gives him or her a fictitious value to us just as we think we have the best house or the best car. We are all more critical of our neighbors' wives and husbands than we are of our own.

Also, there is something in just being married that steadies men and women and keeps them from roaming. They have made their choice and most of them expect to abide by it and so they are not always thinking of changing partners nor keeping an eye out for more attractive prospects. It's the difference between owning your own house and being put, or being a renter and always thinking you will move in the fall.

On the other hand, the liaison is filled with suspicions and fears and jealousies because each knows that he or she has no hold on the other except emotional appeal. So each is constantly on the alert for signs of desertion. The man who loves most lives in constant apprehension of the dread day when he or she will be supplanted in the other's affections.

Furthermore, none of us, not even the most thick-skinned, are impervious to public opinion, and when a man and woman find themselves dropped by their old friends and forced to live a sort of hole-in-the-corner life they have to be more than human if they do not reproach each other and regret the price they have paid for their illicit love.

Of course, a woman married expecting to find happiness in her home and husband and children. There is nothing selfish about that. The selfishness is in the man who wants her love and denies her a decent position in society.

DEAR MISS DIX—My husband told me to ask your advice on this problem of ours. We have six fine boys running from 17 years to 5, and we live in a small house in which we are crowded to death and which has not even a furnace to heat it. We own two more cottages near us that we rent and have between $30,000 and $40,000 saved up, and we don't owe anybody a penny. Now I want more room and a comfortable house and my husband thinks I am foolish. The boys want a nice home and are always pointing out pretty houses. We have a chance to buy a house that will just suit us at a great bargain, and the question is shall we buy this house or not? MRS. P.

Answer: By all means buy it. I am strong for home ownership and I believe that every family should have just as pretty and comfortable a home, with just as good furniture in it, as they can possibly afford.

To a man it may not make much difference where he lives, nor whether there are plenty of closets, nor what kind of paper is on the walls, nor whether his wife has a kitchen that is a bride's dream or not. He may be satisfied if he has a comfortable chair to sit in and a good bed to sleep in, and if his wife somehow conjures up a good meal on the wreck of a gas stove. But to a woman her home is her castle. It is the centre of her life, and to have it nice and comfortable and something she can be proud of does more than any other one thing to make her happiness. So a good home is something that every man owes his wife.

And there is nothing like a nice home to solve the problem of keeping the children in the straight and narrow path. Truant officers say that they find that there are fewer delinquent boys and girls among home-owning families than among those who rent. It gives the children self-respect and a sense of responsibility to live in nice homes. It is from the little crowded-up homes, where there is no place for a boy to play or have his things or invite his pals, that come the headlums. Boys and girls who have been thrust in the street in their infancy to play and learn the manners and morals of the street and get in with street gangs.

So, Mrs. P., tell your husband that I say to buy that house quick and give those six boys room in which to develop into fine men. DOROTHY DIX.

Tomatoes Sometimes Develop Vitamin C After Being Picked

By DR. MORRIS FISHER

It has been taken for granted that the vitamins contained in fresh fruits and vegetables were equally available in the canned and preserved products or in products modified in various ways.

Tomatoes are available not only as the fresh fruit used in salads but also in the form of canned tomatoes, tomato juice, catsup and tomato pulp prepared in other ways. It has been recognized from the first that the tomato is one of the most important sources of vitamin C, the anti-scurvy vitamin. It is important that the public know whether or not they may rely on any given type of tomato for this purpose.

In order to determine the importance of canned tomatoes as compared with fresh tomatoes, the U. S. Department of Agriculture, in cooperation with the Food and Drug Administration made some studies on guinea pigs which had been fed a diet planned to produce scurvy and which were then fed a diet including various types of canned tomatoes. The canned tomatoes concerned included both the cold pack and open kettle method.

Green tomato pickles were prepared with spice, onion and pepper and artificially colored tomatoes were produced by treating the green tomatoes with ethylene. Cold pack canned tomatoes were capable of producing a cure of scurvy in the guinea pigs after the cans had been stored as long as nine months, whereas tomatoes canned by the open kettle method did not produce complete recovery even with larger dosages, indicating that vitamin C is lost by oxidation. The green canned cold pack tomatoes indicated considerable loss of vitamin C following storage. It was found that tomatoes ripened in the greenhouse were not quite so potent in vitamin C as those ripened in the field. Tomatoes colored red by the use of ethylene gas also required larger doses to produce recovery than those ripened in the field. Tomatoes ripened in dark rooms produced recovery, indicating that the vitamin C may develop in the tomato after it is cut from vine. Obviously, exact knowledge is needed before a conclusion can be drawn as to the virtue of any special type of food for the prevention of diseases. It is not possible to argue on the basis of the general knowledge of the past concerning the scientific knowledge of the present.

Gracia and Mishima Maru Here To-day; Africa Maru Expected To-morrow

Empress of Canada, Ruth Alexander, N.Y.K. Liner and Two President Ships on List

Commencing to-day with two ships in port, the outer docks of Victoria will have a busy period this week, when eight steamers will be in port. After a busy few days with freight ships the docks will receive passenger liners until Saturday, several big ships being due on their inbound and outbound voyages, mostly to and from the Orient.

This afternoon the Donaldson freighter Gracia was at the Rithet piers, having arrived at Race Rocks at 1:30 o'clock from the United Kingdom by way of the Panama Canal and California ports. She came alongside the Rithet piers about 3 o'clock and before proceeding to Vancouver early this evening will discharge 100 tons of general cargo.

The other ship here to-day is the N.Y.K. liner Mishima Maru, which is at the Outer Point piers for a short time on her way to the Far East from Seattle. The Mishima sailed from the Sound port at 11 o'clock this morning and was expected at 4 o'clock this afternoon. After taking on seven local passengers, light cargo and mails, she is posted to clear for Yokohama about 5 o'clock. Capt. K. Fukuda is in command of the Mishima.

AFRICA DUE
To-morrow's ship will be the O.S.K. liner Africa Maru, which will reach Victoria about 5 p.m. in the evening. The captain of the ship will advise the local office of the exact time of arrival some time to-morrow morning. The Africa has a fair passenger list and a good cargo this voyage.

On Thursday there will be two liners in port at Rithet piers. One will be the Canadian Pacific steamer Empress of Canada, which is due here about 4 o'clock in the afternoon on her way from Vancouver to Honolulu, Japan, China and the Philippines Islands. Thursday evening will see the arrival here of the coastal passenger liner Ruth Alexander from San Diego, San Angeles harbor and San Francisco.

The American Mail Line President Pierce is now crossing the Pacific bound from the Orient for Victoria and Seattle. Two more ships will be here on Saturday. The Pierce is expected here from the Orient, and in the afternoon the American Mail Line President Cleveland will be here two hours on her way to the Far East.

But for the accident to the liner Empress of Russia, that ship would make an additional arrival here on Saturday. She, however, at present in the United States naval drydock at Bremerton having her engines repaired.

NOW RESTS AT SCAPA FLOW

The old liner Aorangi, which for years operated between Victoria and the Antipodes, which was seen with her decks awash a few weeks ago at the entrance to the famous Scapa Flow by Col. "Jim" Slater, now on his way to Australia.

OLD AORANGI STILL AFLOAT

Well-known Australian Liner, Which Operated From Victoria, at Scapa Flow

As the waves of the North Sea wash eternally into Scapa Flow, where British grand fleet made its last during the days of the Great War, they wash the decks of an old steamer well known to Victoria. She is the Aorangi, the first ship in regular service between Canada and Australia, and she did her final bit for the Empire in blocking one of the entrances to this famous war harbor. Her last voyage out of Victoria was on January 1, 1910.

News of her is brought to British Columbia by Lt.-Col. "Jim" Slater, traffic manager for the Canadian Pacific Railway in Australia and New Zealand, well known in Victoria for many years before he went to his present position. He is returning to Australia after a holiday in Scotland and it was in visiting his native Orkney Islands that he caught a glimpse of the wave-washed deck of the old Aorangi.

Col. Slater has been in his present position for nine years. Before that he was prohibition commissioner in British Columbia for some time. He served overseas with the 29th Battalion. His acquaintance with Vancouver runs back to some years before he relieved Sir George McLaren Brown as city ticket agent for the C.P.R. in 1901. He passed through Victoria in July on his way home to Scotland with his daughter, Mrs. Alan Harvey.
